

Kuhn Is Given Prison Term on Grand Larceny, Forgery Counts

German - American Bund Head Gets 2 1/2 to 5 Years

NO STAY ASKED

Sentence suspended on deal involving moving payment

New York—(AP)—Fritz Kuhn, German-American bund leader, was sentenced today to a prison term of from two and a half to five years. He was convicted last week of grand larceny of bund funds.

The sentence was imposed on the count of grand larceny in the James D. C. Murray transaction and on two counts of forgery in that connection.

Sentence was suspended by Judge James C. Wallace on the transaction involving the alleged payment of the moving expenses of Mrs. Florence Camp, the "blonde angel" of Kuhn's love letters.

Murray had testified during the trial that he never had received $500 from Kuhn, but had paid him for legal services.

The other charge of larceny concerned $717 allegedly given Mrs. Camp.

"This man is not to be sentenced because he is a hate-dispenser or a rabble-rouser, for there are thousands of others in this country," Judge Wallace said before he pronounced sentence.

Persecution Charged

Kuhn's attorney, Paul F. Sabatino, had contended during the trial that political persecution lay at the bottom of the case.

The judge denied a defense request to suspend sentence.

"I will rely upon your vast store of experience to pass a fitting sentence," Sabatino said.

He made no attempt to defer execution of sentence pending a possible appeal.

Judge Wallace said the jury believed that Kuhn had presented a perjured defense, and pointed out to Assistant District Attorney Herman J. McCarthy, who prosecuted the case, that the district attorney's office was "under an obligation" to take action against James Wheeler Hill, national secretary of the bund, and Willy Luedtke, for their "patent perjury."

Scores "Small Fry"

Wheeler-Hill and Luedtke, an official of the German-American Bund, testified today that Kuhn had "leader-ship principle." Kuhn had a right to use the funds as he saw fit. The prosecution presented evidence to show he was not only to be held responsible for the funds, but could actually be impeached for wrongdoing.

Judge Wallace remarked at one point that Kuhn and his followers had achieved an exaggerated importance.

"This small-fry aggregation of busboys, locker room attendants, bartenders and other small fry," he said, "would not amount to anything if other rabble-rousers did not attack him (Kuhn), and he did not attack the other rabble-rousers."

Conviction and sentence automatically deprive Kuhn of such civil rights as voting, holding public office and other privileges granted by citizenship. They can be restored only by action of the governor after Kuhn has served his sentence.

His citizenship, as such, is not revoked. Kuhn, German-born, became a naturalized citizen in 1933.

The state contended at Kuhn's trial that he altered his records to conceal the disposition of the $500 in the Murray matter.

Kuhn already had turned over the bund leadership to an acting fuhrer, Gerhard Wilhelm Kunze.

In an interview said he would make no changes in the bund work, and added he would act as leader only temporarily.

Urges Uninstructed Republican Delegates

Madison—(AP)—Roy Reed of Ripon, Republican member of the state personnel board, today proposed an uninstructed slate of delegates to the Republican national convention headed by United States Senator Alexander Wiley, Governor Julius P. Hall, Representative Frank Keefe and Robert K. Henry.

Reed said he had discussed with other Republicans plans for backing a slate on which these men would run as delegates-at-large and other uninstructed delegates would be endorsed in the congressional districts.

He said all Republicans could unite behind such a slate and it would "divorce" the party delegate election from any political machine.

Reed disclosed that George Greeley, Oshkosh, Young Republican leader, might be asked to act as chairman under the proposed plan.

Fail to Provide Funds For Superhighway Land

(Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau)

Oshkosh, Wis., county supervisors in session today unanimously approved the 1940 highway improvement program but only after striking out a $60,000 provision to purchase right-of-way for the projected Superhighway 41 between Oshkosh and Neenah. The $60,000 in state funds will be used for other highway work in the county.

HIGHWAY CHIEF DRAGGED FROM OFFICE

Struggling with representatives of Governor E. D. Rivers of Georgia, W. L. Miller (center), chairman of the Georgia highway board, is shown as he was forcibly ejected from office in Atlanta after the governor had ordered him to vacate. Miller's hand was cut and his eye glasses were broken in the scuffle. The ouster climaxed a disagreement of long standing between Rivers and the chairman over highway affairs.

Crowley Quits as FDIC Chairman to Head Big Utility Won't Take New Post Until 'Several Matters' Are Cleared Up

Washington—Although Leo T. Crowley of Madison will accept the chairmanship of the board of Standard Gas and Electric company within the immediate future, he will continue to serve as chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation for several months.

It is understood that Crowley's salary in his new post will be about five times his present government salary.

Jennerjahn conferred with the president for an hour and a half last Monday, and obtained his consent to accept the new post, providing he will not become active in the utility job until "certain matters" are completed at FDIC.

Standard Gas is rated as a billion-dollar utility holding company. Crowley said he hoped to be able to take his ideas of utility operation and financing into his new post, and

Oshkosh Man Is Shot by Bandit Robber Wounds Beverage Firm Head as Hold-up Fails

Walter C. Jennerjahn, 50, former Appleton resident, was wounded in the right arm shortly before 6 o'clock last night by a bandit who attempted a holdup in his beverage firm office at Oshkosh. The bandit escaped empty handed.

Jennerjahn was confined to an Oshkosh hospital today, and his condition was reported improved despite a large loss of blood.

Jennerjahn told police the bandit entered his office wearing a thin mask, and announced that it was a stickup. Jennerjahn reached in a drawer for his own pistol, called for Frank Schroeder, a warehouse employee, and then was slugged and shot above the elbow. He dropped the undischarged pistol when he fell against a stove.

Schroeder told police that when he answered Jennerjahn's call the bandit said, "Do you want it, Frank?" Schroeder retreated, but the bandit fled without finding $210 in a cash box. The robber was described as short and dark, about 35, and wearing a yellow jacket.

Texas Hereford Steer Named Grand Champ

Chicago—(AP)—A Hereford steer from Texas, Lucky Boy 2nd, owned by Mayfield Kothman of Mason, was adjudged the grand champion steer of the fortieth International Livestock show today.

It was the first time since 1932 that a Hereford won the most coveted purple ribbon of the show.

Another Texas Hereford, Texas State Fair, shown by Jack Baker of Bluff Dale, won the reserve grand championship.

A crowd of 10,000 stockmen in the International amphitheater when George Gordon-Davis of Buenos Aires, chief judge of steers, laid his hand on the flank of Kothman's animal greeted his choice with a resounding cheer.

Man Killed, 4 Injured in 6 Car Accidents

Albert Heller, Route 3, Chilton, Dies in Crash

SNOW IS BLAMED

Order Inquest; 2 Collisions Occur on Memorial Drive Bridge

A sudden snowstorm that left pavements wet and subsequent freezing temperatures that formed ice were blamed for six automobile accidents in Appleton and vicinity yesterday and today in which one man was killed and four persons injured.

Albert William Heller, 63, route 3, Chilton, was killed instantly at about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon when the car he was driving and a truck collided on Highway 57 about 4 1/2 miles north of Chilton. Dr. John J. Minahan of Chilton ordered an inquest into Heller's death. The victim's wife, who was the only other passenger in the car, received serious injuries in the crash.

Heller, driving north, apparently lost control of his sedan on the slippery pavement and sideswiped a big truck, traveling south, and driven by George Zerott of Milwaukee. Sheriff Gerhard Jensen of Chilton said today. The passenger car bounded off the truck and went off the road. The truck overturned. A dealer died instantly of a skull fracture, two broken legs, and other injuries. His wife, whose condition was improved today, received a skull fracture and deep lacerations on her face. She was taken to her home.

Dr. Charles Brillman, Dale, had a harrowing experience about 9 o'clock this morning on Memorial Drive bridge. As he started over the bridge, heading south, his car skidded, bumped over the curbing on the sidewalk on the east side of the structure and struck the railing, knocking one section into the river and damaging another.

His Own Railing

The car then swung to the right, crossed the bridge and hit the railing on the west side. Police said on the sidewalk on the east side of the structure and struck the railing, knocking one section into the river and damaging another.

Shortly after this mishap, another unusual accident occurred on the same bridge, police reported. Robert Larsen, 126 Fifth street, Neenah, was driving north on the bridge, approaching the traffic lights at Memorial Drive and Prospect avenue. As he braked his car, the machine spun completely around in the traffic lane and stopped, facing south.

Kuhn Trial Opens In Circuit Court Nichols Tavernkeeper Faces Second Degree Murder Charge

Trial of Mike Kuhn, Nichols tavernkeeper, on a second degree murder charge, opened this morning in circuit court before Judge Henry A. Lockney, Waukesha. Selection of a jury was started this morning.

Frank Pleckham, town of Black Creek, died after an altercation in Kuhn's tavern on the evening of Aug. 24 and Kuhn is charged with beating him. Kuhn was released under $10,000 bond following his preliminary hearing in municipal court recently when he was bound over to circuit court for trial. Judge Lockney was named to try the case. An affidavit of prejudice was filed against Circuit Judge Edgar V. Werner.

Opening statements in the trial were expected to be heard this afternoon. Several hundred spectators filled the circuit courtroom this morning.

Large Ohio Cities Striving To Meet Growing Problem of Relief as Funds are Depleted

Cleveland—(AP)—Officials strove today to save Ohio's $20,000,000-a-year relief business from a bankruptcy of disaster and despair.

In Toledo, one of the cities most harried by a shortage of funds for the needy, City Manager George H. Schoonmaker acknowledged:

"Officials quite frankly have been holding their breath for fear some disaster might break out here."

Cleveland, preparing to mortgage future tax collections to ease its grave situation, looked to the federal government's WPA for additional aid.

Booted by a section of spectators at a Cleveland council meeting last night, Mayor Harold H. Burton renewed his demand that Governor John W. Bricker summon the legislature into special session to deal with the crisis.

This demand voiced for several weeks by officials of other hard-pressed cities, has brought from Bricker the response:

"We must pare down large-scale relief until we can be sure that only those who are actually in need are on the relief rolls. . . . The state has done all in its power. 'If the state can cut costs, so can the cities.'"

Cleveland faced a deficit of $1,200,000 Dec. 31, Mayor Burton said; Toledo had a deficit of $800,000; Dayton expected to be in the red $43,000.

Cleveland hoped to reduce its deficit by issuing $1,115,000 in bonds pledged against taxes now delinquent; Toledo was trying in court to obtain money from anticipated collections of auto license and gasoline tax funds.

The council in Cleveland resolved to restore relief to its "original basis," providing food for 18,000 persons recently cut off rolls, but Mayor Burton characterized the resolution as merely an "expression of opinion."

Boos broke out in the council special benches as he declared:

"We cannot restore the original standards without money."

Russia Must Quit League Or Face Ouster; Geneva's Invitation Called 'Insult'

Denies Red Union in State of War With Finland

SPURNS MEDIATION

Military Headquarters Reports New Advances In Invasion

Moscow—(AP)—Soviet Russia has given notice of withdrawal from sessions of the League of Nations called to act on Finland's charge of aggression. Russia, in fact, construes the invitation as an insult.

Even as Leningrad military headquarters last night reported deepening advances into Finland, Tass, official Russian news agency, announced rejection of the league invitation on grounds that "the Soviet Union is not in a state of war with Finland and does not threaten the Finnish people with war."

League machinery for sessions of the council and assembly, beginning next Saturday and Monday, respectively, was started moving Sunday at the request of Rudolf Holsti, Finland's permanent league delegate, that the league "take all necessary measures to check the aggression" of the Soviet Union.

Towns Attacked

The league notification to Russia was telegraphed yesterday and quoted from the letter submitted by Holsti charging that the U.S.S.R. had "attacked not only frontier positions, but also open towns of Finland, sowing death and devastation among the civilian population, especially by air attacks."

Russia's snub of the league accomplished her refusal of Swedish efforts to mediate the Russian-Finnish war—efforts undertaken in the name of the Finnish government at Helsinki.

The Swedish minister visited Premier-Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov Saturday and Sunday nights, seeking an avenue to peace, it was reported. On each occasion he received a negative reply.

Last night, a Tass communique said Molotov had told the Swedish envoy that Moscow did not recognize the "so-called government of Finland which already has left Helsinki in an unknown direction, and therefore there now can be no question of any negotiations with this 'government.'"

(There was no confirmation from Helsinki that the government had departed.)

Says Nation At Peace

The telegraphic reply from Molotov to Joseph A. C. Avenol, secretary-general of the league, said the Moscow government "maintains peaceful relations with the democratic republic of Finland with whose government on Dec. 2 it signed a treaty of mutual assistance and friendship."

"This treaty settles all questions which the Soviet government had discussed without result with the delegates of Finland's former government which has now resigned its powers."

This was a reference to concessions granted by the Terijoki "people's" government for Finland set up Friday under Russian auspices and proclaimed from Moscow.

Russia entered the League of Nations in 1934 when Maxim Litvinoff was commissar of foreign affairs.

Jury Is Selected for Trial of Two Men on Charges of Extortion

Juneau—(AP)—A jury of eight men and four women was chosen late yesterday to try Eugene Klink and Dr. F. L. O'Neill on charges of extortion which grew out of a John Doe investigation into affairs of the lodge country asylum and farm.

Circuit Judge Henry Deling of Sheboygan said other cases which developed from the investigation could not be tried immediately unless arrangements were made for a different judge, as he had previous commitments.

Roland J. Steinle, of Milwaukee, special prosecutor, in a statement today said evidence would show that Klink and Dr. O'Neill threatened Mrs. Clara Lehmann that they would file a criminal complaint against her for slander in connection with an anonymous letter investigators said she wrote.

By reason of the threats, Steinle asserted, her husband, Henry, former Dodge county sheriff, was coerced into paying $1,200 to Klink and $200 to Dr. O'Neill.

Defense attorneys Paul A. Henry, Jr., and Daniel H. Grady of Portage denied that any threats had been made, and stated that the $1,400 had been paid in settlement of a pending civil suit for slander damages. They said they had written releases from the Lehmanns.

Warrants are Issued For Two Milwaukeeans

Madison—(AP)—The attorney general's office disclosed today it had issued warrants in Sheboygan county circuit court against William F. and Robert C. Unger, Milwaukee, charging illegal sale of whisky warehouse receipts, but had been unable to serve them.

The warrants were sworn out before Court Commissioner Charles Voigt Nov. 16 by Assistant Attorney General Rickard Lauritzen.

Report Finnish Planes Raid Russian Baltic Port; Norway Makes Move to End Conflict

Oslo—(AP)—Norwegian Foreign Minister Halvdan Koht today invited the foreign ministers of Sweden and Denmark to a conference to seek means of bringing peace between Soviet Russia and Finland.

He asked Richard Sandler of Sweden and Peter Munch of Denmark to meet with him here Thursday.

The Danish foreign minister accepted immediately and announced he would leave tomorrow for Oslo, Sandler's acceptance also was reported.

In convoking the diplomats for talks which may prove a turning point in north country affairs, Koht said:

"The Scandinavian governments are gravely concerned over the war into which the Finnish people have been thrown and, both because of ourselves and because of Finland, they wish that peace may be re-established as soon as possible."

"The Scandinavian countries therefore must discuss all means to get peace negotiations."

"They assume that this also is the base of Finland's appeal to the League of Nations."

"It is this matter which I had in mind when I invited Sweden's and Denmark's foreign ministers to come to Oslo for a conference with me."

Helsinki—(AP)—Finland was reported today to have struck back at Soviet Russia by air bombardment of Paldiski, the Baltic port which Russia leased from Estonia for a naval base. The reports lacked confirmation, however, and gave no details.

Finns had declared that Paldiski was the base for some of the Soviet planes which raided Helsinki last week.

Finland hope that aid might be forthcoming from Sweden was indicated by quick fortification of the Aaland islands which would keep open a sea route between the two nations.

Assemblyman Is Named in Warrant Gruszka Accused of Confidence Game After Issuing Two Checks

Milwaukee—(AP)—A warrant charging Assemblyman Anthony J. Gruszka (R) of Mosinee, with operating a confidence game was issued today by Assistant District Attorney Edward Yockey, who said the charge was based on issuance of two checks.

Yockey said that on Nov. 23, Gruszka cashed two checks, each for $50, at a Milwaukee cafe operated by Tony Scaler, and that two days later the checks "bounced."

Following receipt of a complaint from Scaler, Yockey said he wrote the assemblyman asking him to "straighten things out."

"Gruszka, in a letter I received Nov. 29, stated that there had been no intent on his part to defraud Scaler," Yockey continued. "He said that at the time he issued the checks he believed that he had sufficient funds on deposit to cover the checks."

Mosinee—(AP)—Assemblyman Anthony J. Gruszka, declaring his intention to pay for two checks on which his bank had refused payment, said today he expected to go to Milwaukee tonight.

The assemblyman said he over-drew his checking account after his recent marriage, but that he would receive a check from the state Dec. 15 and then would be able to make payment.

Installment Payments By Road Body Illegal, Attorney General Says

Madison—(AP)—Attorney General John E. Martin informed the state highway commission today it could not legally comply with a request by Governor Heil that $3,705,000 of highway aids, due Dec. 15, be paid in installments to prevent depletion of the state general fund.

Martin notified William E. O'Brien, chairman of the commission, the law governing payment of privilege highway taxes to municipalities was so clear that a written opinion was unnecessary. He said the statute specifically provided for payment in a lump sum.

O'Brien announced he would confer with the governor late today or tomorrow to decide what steps to take but, meanwhile, refused to comment.

Allotment of the aids in four monthly installments was part of a plan devised by the state emergency board to avoid a financial crisis resulting from failure of the legislature to pass a general tax bill. The governor is chairman of the board.

The privilege highway taxes have been paid to localities annually since 1931 when automobile property taxes were repealed.

Argentina and Uruguay Ask Ejection Of Soviet Union TAKE FIRM TONE

U. S. Ready to Join in Condemnation of Moscow Government

BULLETIN

London—(AP)—Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax today called the Russian invasion of Finland an "inexcusable act of aggression by one of the largest on one of the smallest" nations of Europe.

Washington—(AP)—Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state, announced today the United States government had notified certain Latin American nations it would be very glad to participate in a joint Pan-American condemnation of Russia's invasion of Finland.

Certain Latin American nations, which he did not name, have approached this government in support, Welles said, of the principles of international law and with repudiation of force as a means of settling international difficulties.

"This government, he said, has replied that if all other American republics undertake to formulate such a declaration the United States would be very glad to take part."

Welles recalled that many Latin American governments already had made their position on the invasion clear through statements and messages.

Other officials explained that charges against Soviet Russia brought before the League of Nations by some American republics did not concern the United States since it is not a member of the league.

Geneva—(AP)—Soviet Russia, in the opinion expressed today in league of Nations circles, faces the choice of quitting the league, or being thrown out.

These quarters took one or the other eventually for granted after the Finnish appeal Sunday for action to "check the aggression" of the Soviet Union and yesterday's demand from Argentina and Uruguay for immediate ejection of the U. S. S. R.

Uruguay proposed, moreover, that all American members of the league withdraw from the body unless Russia is expelled. Besides Argentina and Uruguay, these are Bolivia, Colombia, Cuba, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, Haiti, Mexico, Panama and Peru.

(Other South American league members were reported preparing to follow Argentina and Uruguay's suit in demanding the ouster.)

Brazil Backs Action

(Brazil's foreign minister, Oswaldo Aranha, said his nation, not a league member, was prepared to support any common continental action based on American treaties and the league pact as a result of Russia's war on Finland.)

Informal quarters at Buenos Aires said still other members were likely to join in some form of condemnation of the Russian invasion.)

League sources professed to foresee the rebirth of the league as a power in world politics, and some openly predicted Italy and Spain might return to the fold once Russia were out.

The viewed the South American membership of the league as giving the league vital world character.

It was believed generally in these quarters that Russia would resign before the league council's meeting Saturday, to hear Finland's case, has a chance to act against her. Russia has given notice she will not attend the session.

Support Expected

The Argentinean notes fell under Article 18 of the league covenant providing that "a member of the league which has violated the covenant may be declared no longer a member by vote of the council."

Certain league quarters said Great Britain and France would have to support the Finnish appeal against Russia, or lose all the prestige they had won in South America as sponsors of league ideals.

The prevailing opinion was that the weight of South American influence had out-balanced any fear of the British-French allies that ousting Russia would force her into closer ties with Germany. Germany's membership ended Oct. 19, 1933.

In view of Argentina's close bonds with Italy and Spain, it was suggested that if Russia were out, Italy and Spain might renew their league bonds.

Technically, Spain's membership, inoperative since the downfall of the Republican government, has a year and a half to run, while Italy's two-year notification of withdrawal is effective next Sunday.

Parliament May Devote Session To War Supplies

Chamberlain Expected to Approve Day of Secret Discussion

London.—(P)—Finland's action in requesting the League of Nations to meet to consider the Russian invasion was taken on her own initiative, Prime Minister Chamberlain told the house of commons today.

He added that Foreign Undersecretary Richard Austen Butler would make a statement at the league meeting on behalf of the British government. The league council is to meet Saturday and the assembly Monday.

In reply to a question, Chamberlain said he would agree to a one-day secret session of parliament to consider supply measures at a date to be arranged.

Chamberlain replied "no" when asked if Britain had protested to Moscow and Berlin against violation of Finnish territory.

Authoritative quarters said that Britain has "no one issue" of Russian policy under consideration in preparation for the forth coming league meeting.

London.—(P)—Sources close to the government indicated today that Prime Minister Chamberlain would accede to demands of labor and liberal leaders by designating one day next week for secret parliamentary discussion of one subject—war supplies.

Although parliament met secretly to discuss various subjects during the World war, the government has hesitated this time for fear of engendering false reports.

Meanwhile, Britain lost valuable food supplies when the German "pocket battleship" Admiral Greer sank the 10,085 ton refrigerator ship Doric Star in the south Atlantic with a cargo of meats from New Zealand and Australia.

The Doric Star normally carries a crew of 70 and has accommodations for six passengers, but there was no word of their fate.

An admiralty announcement last night blamed the "German raider" for loss of the Doric Star and unofficial sources specified the Admiral Scheer.

Steamer Torpedoed
Torpedoing of the London steamer Horsted, 1,670 tons, was reported today after 13 survivors and the bodies of three crewmen were landed. Five of the crew were reported missing after the sinking in the North Sea.

The Horsted, a coal ship, was en route to a northeastern port to pick up a cargo when a submarine attacked her off the eastern coast yesterday, it was said.

A British warship picked up the survivors and the three bodies.

In home waters, the British freighter Eskdale, 2,399 tons, was sunk by a mine yesterday and the British steamer Hamsterley, 2,160 tons, was sunk in a collision off the east coast of England. The 1,276-ton Scottish steamer Largsdale and the 1,064-ton Findhorn were damaged in mysterious collisions off the west coast.

The Swedish steamer Rudolf, 2,150 tons was reported sunk off the British coast Sunday.

Claim "Secret Weapon"
Despite these losses, an authoritative source said the British had a new secret weapon that was "very satisfactory" in combating German magnetic mines.

Volunteers on trawlers were said to be using the closely-guarded new method. Neutral experts suggested the possibility of exploding such mines by dragging a metallic object between two wooden vessels.

(Reports received in Washington last week said the British had discovered that sound waves would detonate the mines.)

The export blockade that began yesterday went forward with sharp lookouts maintained at such bottlenecks as Gibraltar, the Suez canal and the Straits of Dover.

Authorities stated that the most difficult section to patrol were the 270 miles between Scotland and Norway and the 400 miles between Scotland and Iceland.

Dismiss Manslaughter Charge Against Woman
Dodgeville.—(P)—County Judge James E. O'Neill, after hearing several witnesses, dismissed yesterday a third degree manslaughter charge against Mrs. Emma Steiner, 37, in the fatal shooting of Herman Everson, 49-year-old farmhand and escaped inmate of the Vernon county asylum.

Judge O'Neill said Mrs. Steiner "did what any woman would do to save her husband's life."

District Attorney George Larkin informed the court that Mrs. Steiner related she shot Everson while he fought with her husband, Albert, 50, last October.

Judge O'Neill declared the evidence showed Everson was of a violent nature.

Robber Doesn't Pass Up Even a Stray Dime
Pittsburgh.—(P)—The robber who took $50 from Richard Mierzwa's drug store overlooked nothing.

Mierzwa's son, Robert, was so nervous under the menace of the robber's gun that he dropped a dime.

"Do you want me to get that, too?" he asked.

"You're d-d right I want it," said the gunman grimly. He got it.

SOVIETS BOMB FINN APARTMENT

This picture, transmitted from London to New York by radio, shows the damage done to the roof of an apartment house in Helsinki, Finland, when Russian planes dumped bombs on the Finnish capital. It was reported that more than 100 civilians had been killed by Red bombs.

versary of Finnish independence tomorrow to unleash a new attack from the sky.

Always observed with solemnity by the Finns, the independence anniversary will have added significance as the sturdy northerners fight to preserve their freedom.

Movement of civilians out of Helsinki to the interior is practically complete, but workmen still are hurriedly boarding up windows and doors.

A Finnish government spokesman, discussing Moscow's statement that Russia is at peace with the Finnish people, declared that "the world's diplomatic history knows no document as cynical as this."

"All that the Russian government has to say about the government based on Finland's parliamentary system consists of lies and false allegations."

"This document better than anything shows the real face of the Soviet government which declares itself the protector of small nations and creator of the independence and liberty of small nations."

Kirkenes, Norway (At the Finnish Frontier)—Three Soviet Russian bombers raided Salmijarvi and the nearby area today in a renewal of aerial operations in the war on Finland.

The bombers could be seen from Kirkenes, and detonations reverberated across the border, but it was not learned immediately what damage and casualties resulted.

Properties of the International Nickel Company of Canada lie in the Salmijarvi area.

At the same time, reports of continued Russian landings in the Petsamo region, northernmost Finland about 30 miles east northeast of Salmijarvi, were received.

These reports said Russian warships were observed in Petsamo fjord this morning. These were believed to be conveying troops ships bringing troops from the Russian Arctic garrisons of Alexandrovsk, Murmansk and Kola.

It was reported the Russians first attempted to land at Linnahamari but failed. Later they were reported landing on both sides of the mouth of Petsamo fjord. The Finns apparently were unable to prevent this, but were believed to be waiting until the invaders reach Petsamo, where strong defense positions have been built. Petsamo is Finland's chief Arctic port.

Strong detachments of Finns were moving northward from Rovaniemi toward Petsamo.

Unconfirmed reports received here said 60 Russian planes were destroyed by Finnish fighters dropping incendiary bombs on the Soviet airport at Murmansk, 65 miles southeast of Petsamo.

Refugees here were a sorrowful sight. Many women had husbands or sons somewhere on the front, and may never see them again. There was some talk of emigrating to the United States.

SWEDEN CALLS TROOPS
Stockholm.—(P)—Sweden, in increasing alarm at the extent of the Soviet Russian incursion into Finland, called more troops to the colors today and for the first time acknowledged "partial mobilization."

About 40,000 men, including artillerymen, engineers and commissary detachments, were ordered into service, bringing to about 150,000 the number under arms—as against a normal standing force of 20,000.

Rome—(P)—Carabinieri and other troops blocked today a new attempt by student groups to stage an anti-Russian demonstration in front of the Soviet embassy. There had been demonstrations there Saturday and yesterday.

Hundreds of students marched through rain-soaked streets, crying, "Finland, resist!"

Troops blocking off avenues leading to the Russian embassy forced the demonstrators to turn back. Instead of dispersing, the students marched off through the rain toward the Finnish legation to repeat sympathetic manifestations of Saturday and Monday.

God the Only Cause and Creator was the subject of the lesson sermon for Sunday at First Church of Christ, Scientist. The following passage was taken from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The creative Principle—Life, Truth and Love—is God. The universe reflects God. There is but one creator and one creation. This creation consists of the unfolding of spiritual ideas and their identities, which are embraced in the infinite Mind and forever reflected. These ideas range from the infinitesimal to infinity, and the highest ideas are the sons and daughters of God."

Leonard Lectures at Technocrats Meeting
A lecture entitled, "Technocracy, Continental Patriotism," was given by Fred J. Leonard, 1315 S. Alicia drive, at a public meeting of Technocracy, Inc. last night at the Tengel building. A question period and general discussion of the subject followed the talk.

He signalled in his message to this congress at the outset of its first session that he had finished with his bigger legislative endeavors, that the principal thing left to do was to machine down the tools of government that had been wrought during the early years of his first two administrations.

His advocates say the president already has written, indelibly, his ideas of government into the nation's laws, that he has changed permanently the attitude of government toward the common man.

They argue that the change of attitude was the important thing. How it is to be manifested in the future is a matter of mechanics. Principles and policies appeal to the president. Too many details are boring.

For that reason, many of his friends feel that he would be more than willing to set down upon the shoulders of another man the enormous load he has been carrying for the last six and a half years.

INDICTED

New York.—(P)—The federal grand jury which indicted Earl Browder on charges of passport fraud has returned a similar indictment against a second Communist leader, Robert William Wiener (above).

The indictment identified Wiener as the national treasurer of the Communist party in America and said he had posed 20 years as a native American citizen, although he was born in Russia as Welwei Warsowicz and had remained an alien since coming here in 1914.

Lester Dumigan, assistant United States district attorney, who also named Warsowicz as the "ranked sort of impostor," said at the arraignment of the pudgy, bespectacled defendant yesterday that Warsowicz was vice president of World Tourists, Inc., which conducts tours in Russia and elsewhere.

Russia's Attack on Finland Is Putting Heavy Strain on Germany and Italy Relations

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

New York.—(P)—Russia's operations in Finland are putting a heavy strain on the Berlin-Rome axis.

Few things were better calculated to draw Signor Mussolini away from his German affiliation and toward the Anglo-French camp than Herr Hitler's pledge of brotherhood to Comrade Stalin and the resulting Soviet thrusts for power.

In this sense the ill wind which is sweeping Finland is in fact probably blowing good to the allied cause.

While Hitler has gambled hugely by flipping over his shoulder the anti-communist policy which had been a mainstay of nazism, it Duce of the protruding jaw hasn't taken an inch from the historic stand he took when he founded fascism to combat bolshevism in Italy at the end of the World war.

Not Taking Chances
The anti-Soviet and pro-Finnish public demonstrations which are proceeding in Italy, while fascist troops guard the Russian embassy in Rome, are an indication that Mussolini is smart in judging the temper of his people. He keeps his finger on their pulse all the time. He is not taking the chance that Hitler is, in dynamiting a principle as a matter of expediency.

With each succeeding step the Muscovites have made to extend their influence into eastern Europe, the Baltic and the Balkans, Mussolini has appeared to grow colder toward his nazi partner and hotter against the bolsheviks.

Indications today in responsible Rome circles are that the fascist chieftain has determined to keep Russia out of the Balkans at all costs, since he regards this as his special sphere of influence.

This brings the famous Italian into a new role. Mussolini as party to an Italo-German alliance of convenience was a Samson shorn of his locks. Mussolini as a more or less free agent again is a figure of vast importance in the European upheaval.

Has Great Influence
As an independent neutral, it Duce undoubtedly exercises greater influence than if he actually were a combatant and definitely committed to one side. He can throw his weight where he will, and since that is formidable but untried it commands the respect which the unknown so often does exact.

The question of whether Mussolini may slash all ties with Hitler and actually join England and France against Germany is one of the big important "ifs" of the moment. It is especially vital in view of the activities of the Russo-German combine.

It Duce is the only one who might answer the query about his future affiliation, and it's possible that even he couldn't give a definite statement right now. However, the belief is general in Europe that he has been leaning toward the allies for some time and it certainly would cause no surprise to see him cast his lot with them.

In this connection I wonder how many readers remember the part which Mussolini played in bringing Italy into the World war on the side of the allies, despite the Italo-German ties. Early in the conflict, while Italy was neutral, Mussolini started a newspaper of his own, Il Popolo d'Italia, and urged his country to join England and France.

Wounded In Action
Italy did enter the war on the allied side on May 24, 1915. Mussolini, ever ready to practice what he preached, went to the front and fought until February, 1916, when he was wounded badly by a bursting shell and was invalided out of active service. This doesn't mean, of course, that he necessarily would join the allies again.

However, it isn't at all certain that the allies wouldn't prefer to have Mussolini as a silent partner, that is, give them his full moral support but continue to sit on the sidelines as a powerful control. The allies are as anxious as anyone else to keep Russia out of the Balkans and away from the strategic Dardanelles. With Mussolini standing guard, Moscow will be less inclined to push far into the peninsula.

Two suspects were questioned by county authorities who were working on the theory that the man they want lives near Green Bay.

The shooting climaxed a highway chase. Two motorists reported the Phillips car had brushed theirs in passing, and Sheriff Clifford Kellner believed the rifleman and his companion who had been pursuing Phillips were enraged because of a similar happening.

Red Cross Tells How to Make Yule Trees Fire Proof
The Red Cross today issued an early warning against Christmas accidents and recommended a method to fire proof Christmas trees to prevent holiday fires.

"Cut the trunk at an angle or in a 'Y' shape. Then weigh the tree and divide the weight by four. This will give you the weight of the ammonium sulphate needed. Dissolve one and one half pints of water to the pound. Place the solution in a tin pail, glass jar or earthen crock."

"A narrow-mouth container is best as it lessens evaporation. Set the tree in a cool place in the solution and leave it there long enough for absorption to take place. Then the danger of combustion is at a minimum. Inflammable decorations may be treated with the solution."

New London—"At the beginning of the New Deal administration President Roosevelt said there was nothing to fear but fear; now there is nothing to fear but foolishness," Congressman Reid Murray of Manawa told New London Rotarians in a talk at the luncheon meeting of the club at the Elwood hotel Monday noon.

"There is no reason why business, agriculture or labor should be in a constant state of agitation," the speaker declared. "It is time to take a long-term viewpoint based on common justice and common sense. All labor wants is a decent wage, farmers want fair prices and merchants want stability in business," was his opinion.

It is time the government assumed a pay-as-you-go program to reduce the public debt and quit wasting the taxpayers' money, according to the congressman.

Murray spoke briefly of life in the United States capital and recounted his meeting with James Stewart, motion picture actor, while he was in Washington making the picture, "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington."

Russian Invasion Spells End for U. S. Communists

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER

Washington—Disgust which has swept the country over Soviet Russia's attack on Finland knocks the Communists completely out of the picture in America. Fellow travelers and left-wingers are busy now rooting out and shaking off known Communists. They have at last had to undertake a purge in self-defense.

Clapper

Morris Ernst, the well-known liberal lawyer, has been working on Congressman Martin Dies to interest him in using his investigation to bring out the difference between home-grown American liberalism and alien communism. The argument is that in this way a real service can be rendered to democracy. Liberals who criticize the Dies committee do so largely because they feel it is firing buckshot at liberals and Communists alike, with the effect of bringing into disfavor salutary liberal groups devoted to no more pernicious purpose than to make American democracy function more equitably.

Liberal groups on the Pacific coast are working to clear themselves of Communist infiltration, following the same course that John L. Lewis finally had to take in the C.I.O.

Unquestionably there has, until recently, been ready tolerance, to use the mildest word, of Communists among many liberal groups. That has brought them nothing but trouble. It is now clear, as it was not formerly to many of them, that they must clean house inside and stand as strictly American democratic groups.

The more hard-headed liberals always have favored this policy but they have often been overwhelmed by those who were willing to play with Communists. The Lawyers Guild had such trouble. Begun as a liberal group, it soon had Communists burrowing in. They so embarrassed Judge Ferdinand Pecora, former head of the Guild, that he urged a group of his liberal friends to withdraw from the organization in protest against Communist activity within it. The Civil Liberties union has been going through the same fight.

Liberal Organizations Are Yeast Of Democracy
These liberal organizations—though pooh-poohed by practical politicians—serve a useful purpose. They are the yeast of democracy. It is largely through such aggressive groups that new ideas are agitated and forced into the national area of discussion. The two established political parties are reluctant and with reason, to espouse new causes. Direct elections of senators, woman's suffrage, child-labor restrictions, social insurance and prohibition were advocated by small groups long before they were taken up by either major party.

The practical setup is to have relatively conservative opinion controlling lively agitation going on underneath. Most of the ideas thus projected fall of their own weight after discussion. Those which have genuine vitality catch on and acquire enough popular support to justify one or both major parties taking them up. That is the real democratic process. To snuff out all aggressive discussion groups underneath the dominant political groups is to devitalize democratic thinking. With the attack on Finland, the Communist fraud has been exposed and the doctrinaire talk which has infested political discussion in America in recent years becomes even more hollow than before. We are likely to get rid of most of this talk of ideologies and return to indigenous thinking, to the true American philosophy which is intensely practical—pragmatic is the parlor word.

The American rule is to find the practical compromise between individual freedom and the requirements of living in close quarters with one another.

Americans Use Way That Works Best
You don't need a building code on the farm. But downtown in a big city a man simply can't erect any kind of building he wishes that might seriously damage his neighbor's property. So you have a building code, a restriction on individual freedom, but a practical restriction.

Where private enterprise proves inadequate, we put the government, local or federal, to work—as with TVA and as with countless municipally owned utilities. Yet if our telephone system works satisfactorily, and any American who has traveled abroad will agree that it does—it becomes foolish to switch it to public ownership.

To say that all things should be owned privately or that all things should be owned publicly is doctrinaire. The American way is to use the method that works best. To talk about socialism versus private capital-talism in such matters is to fan the air with meaningless words.

Prohibition came and went. It was a most drastic infringement of individual liberty, the excuse being that liquor was a public menace. Yet I don't recall anybody saying that prohibition was leading us to fascism, socialism, or anything else. We didn't know about ideologies then. Well-known Republican individualists fought for prohibition. We tried it out. It didn't work. We got rid of it. That's the American way.

Elderly Man in Futile Attempt to Slay Self

Fremont—John Lind, about 60 years of age, is in a critical condition at his home at Tustin, Winnemago county. He hanged himself in the woodshed at his home about 8 o'clock Sunday morning. A few minutes after Mr. Lind had left the house, Mrs. Lind went to search for him and arrived on the scene just in time for rescue. Aided by Arnold Grimm, Tustin, who was passing by, she cut the rope and carried him into the house. He was said to have been despondent for a number of days because of ill health.

Those on the lunch committee are Mrs. John Schumacher and Mrs. Albert Beckers.

THE REPUBLICAN PLATFORM: A RECAPITULATION

One of the traditions of party politics as we know it in America and in Wisconsin is the formulation of a platform. While it seems to some of us that platforms are devices of the politicians on which to ride to office, while they are so often shelved after election that the voter who sniffs when he sees a new one drafted may be excused, yet they are so solemnly sworn to by the men who yearn to serve us in governmental office that the Republican party of Wisconsin today can hardly resist it if we recall some of the more interesting planks of its 1938 platform.

At the risk, then, of bringing blushes to the cheeks of our Republican neighbors we shall recall that the Republican party of Wisconsin in convention assembled at Fond du Lac in the summer of 1938 declared that "we expressly avoid justified condemnation and offer to the voters of this state a set of principles entirely constructive."

The party said "we favor," among other things:

Liberalization of the Wisconsin old-age assistance law by increasing state aids to local communities.

A substantial reduction of auto license fees, the segregation and use of highway revenues strictly for highway purposes.

Rigid economy in all governmental expenditures, resulting in lowered taxes for the farmer, home-owner, worker, and small business man.

A pay-as-you-go basis for state expenditures with an annual audit and a compulsory publication of state finance and funds at the end of each fiscal year.

The administration of civil service on a purely merit basis and the elimination of political patronage.

A constitutional amendment prohibiting the appointment of any member of the legislature or other elected state officer to any state office during the term for which he was elected.

The Republican administration has been in office almost a year. The Republican legislature has come and gone. Measured by their promises, the Republicans have gratuitously offered powder to the enemy.

Such were the principles to which the Republican party represented by a thousand accredited delegates from all parts of the state, pledged itself a little more than a year ago. The party won the election, and then saw them pigeon-holed, ignored, or completely forgotten.

Members of the party who did not deny the pledges voted the biggest budget in the history of the state, although they did not increase old age pension aids as they said they would. They increased state taxes. They negated the very essence of the civil service principle by allowing legislative officers to hire-help on a spoils basis, and then passing a law legalizing it and an appropriation for pay which otherwise could not have been collected within the law.

When a resolution calling attention to the platform denunciation of appointment of legislators to office was introduced, it was casually shunted aside in the senate, while a little later the governor, a Republican who attended the party convention, appointed two of his friends in the legislature to two of the highest offices in the capitol. Rather than ordering the publication of annual financial audits, the Republicans did nothing to straighten out the state's tangled financial mess so that the citizen today can only guess at the financial condition of the state treasury. Instead of segregating highway department receipts for highway purposes, administration men today openly talk of "borrowing" such funds in order to re-fuel the anemic treasury.

Thus with an imposing list of promises unkept the Republican party again prepares to begin the task of persuading the electorate to accept more promises next year. A year ago party orators were telling the voters of the broken promises of opposition parties. What can they say next time when a citizen reads the 1938 platform at one of their meetings?

There are two choices open to the men and women who are responsible for the policy of the Republican party of Wisconsin if they hope to restore it to vigor and a healthy strength again. They can tell us that the men who were elected on their ticket last fall betrayed the party's intentions, its promises to the people, or they can come before us again and admit frankly and regretfully, that about half of the clauses in the platform of a year ago were balderdash, mere political honey extended in the hope that votes would stick to it.

It remains for the Republicans to confess their exaggerations of 1938 and to present in 1940 a program compounded of common sense and honesty, a practical set of ideals and aims to which candidates can seriously pledge themselves and to which they can be held accountable. For the Wisconsin voter is dry behind the ears, likely to recognize chicanery the second time.

OUR HIGHWAY POLICY

The time is nearing when the people of Wisconsin will have to decide whether they are satisfied with the highway policy which has grown up in the state government in a secretive and haphazard fashion, and certainly without popular direction, within recent years.

Today, as in the last few years, politicians in the capitol are preparing to use highway tax dollars which the motorist theoretically supposes he pays for the maintenance of his highway facilities, for the support of the state government's general operations. Today the capitol ledger will show that the state government is consistently in the red, that last year the appropriation without legislative authority of more than four millions in highway funds helped to bridge the deficit, and that today the result of successive "diversions" is the accumulation of a total of $27,000,000 in obligations to the state highway department.

With a general fund balance which this fall has been down to $4,000,000, and which during the next two years will never show a surplus over budget needs, that debt will not be decreased. Rather it will be increased, for the Heil administration even now is preparing to economize in the highway department for the benefit of the general fund.

Aside from the moral question which such a practice raises, there are certain practical considerations which ought to be emphasized for a better understanding of the results of such proceedings.

It should not need repetition that legislatures which enact gasoline tax increases for the purpose of improving the highway system, and then use the proceeds for purposes altogether remote from that highway system, are not exactly honest with us.

A more significant point for the highway taxpayer public to remember is that it can easily be proven that we are building fewer highways under the four cent gasoline tax than under the old two cent levy.

But an even more important detail is that the present accounting system renders it practically impossible for the taxpayer or any other citizen who is curious enough to look into it to determine the financial facts of our highway system. Although highway receipts are not included in the regular state budget by law, although the highway fund is nominally ear-marked, in actual practice highway money is used for budget purposes, and the highway account is indistinguishable from the general fund except for ledger entries which under the circumstances become merely academic.

One possible remedy was suggested by Senator Yindra of Manitowish during the last session of the legislature. Yindra proposed the segregation of highway funds, so that all could see how much was collected, and how much spent. His resolution for a constitutional amendment requires adoption by the next legislature and by popular vote in a referendum.

When that measure is finally adopted, and highway funds are separately held, the state may find it wise to redirect its highway policy. At least politicians will not be able to use those funds for purposes unrelated to highways without letting everybody see what they are doing. It may be recognized that $22,000,000 a year, plus federal grants, is too generous an allowance for the highway system in its present advanced state of development. We may decide that the surplus ought to be turned into general governmental operations. But it will then be done in an honest, above-board manner. There will no longer be the fiction of a $27,000,000 "debt" to the highway department, a debt which will never be paid anyway.

We ought not to kid ourselves in matters of government, for the joke is always on us.

NORTHWESTERN EARTHQUAKE
Some fifty or eighty miles east or west of Seattle, Wash., the rocks slipped ever so little. As a result, plaster cracked, chimneys toppled, pictures fell from the walls. No wonder that the dwellers of towns were frightened. Yet to geologists this Northwest tremor, which lasted only a minute or so, is an insignificant manifestation of the earth's restlessness.
Major crustal shocks occur wherever the tall mountains flank deep oceans, which means up and down the western coast of the Americas, along the eastern coast of Japan and the borders of the Indian ocean near the Himalayas. Since the Rockies, they are not theoretically immune from upheavals that have killed thousands in California, Central America and Chile. Yet the Northwest has felt comparatively few quakes. From 1856 to 1937 there have been listed for Washington fifty-seven shocks and nine others in Canada.
All earthquakes are not alike in origin. The slips that were so disastrous to California and Chile prove that the process of mountain-building is still going on in the Far West. On the other hand, and just recently in the North Atlantic states and New England are merely the result of the melting of the glacial-cap that

DALE HARRISON'S In Old New York

New York—Mail:
From Mr. Galdwin (Gadabout) Hill, that Old New Yorker from Wellesley Hills, Mass.:
"I wish you would prod your Florida operatives into action, because I am about to go down there for a short visit. I have never been to Florida, and that is just the point. I have been getting needed up with all kinds of fantastic intelligence about what goes on in Florida, and I don't want to be disappointed."
"For instance, nearly every picture I see from Florida shows an adagio act (two men heaving a girl) practicing on some beach, so if I don't see at least seven adagio acts within the first ten beaches, there is going to be trouble. I am liable to form my own adagio act, heaving two Florida press agents."
"A bet of chorus girls frolicking on the beach and dressed as Santa Claus—or whatever the current holiday happens to be—will be acceptable in place of one (1) adagio act."

"Another Florida phenomenon on which I am well informed is the Seminole Indians, particularly that three-times-a-year story about their never having signed a peace treaty with Uncle Sam, hence being technically at war. The moment I cross into Florida I want to see a Seminole line replete with pill boxes, anti-aircraft guns and possibly a few camouflaged squaws."

"As a veteran headline reader I also am counting on seeing at least seven society matrons en route to or from fashionable casinos being 'relieved of $100,000 in gems.'"

"Finally, Dale, please advise your agents that I have been repeatedly advised by various Florida spokesmen that, contrary to any impression to the contrary, hurricanes do NOT form around Florida. So, when I get there, I expect to see at least six hurricanes NO. 1 forming. G'bye, now."

In a different vein, from Hattiesburg, Miss.:
"I had to write or talk to someone about a funeral I attended last week."

"The mother of one of my best friends was laid to rest. The Lord had blessed a little rural metropolis of about 300 souls with her presence for 70 odd years. She had reared ten children to be substantial contributors to their respective adopted communities."

"It wasn't such a sad funeral as some I have attended. The little church was filled—evidence of the love and respect that all who knew her felt. As the body of the little old lady was brought into the church, banked high with flowers, there were a few audible sniffs; but mostly the mourners' emotions were controlled. The choir, all women, sang 'Nearer My God to Thee,' the Minister spoke of the Justness of God and the rewards to the righteous, after which the choir sang, 'Safe in the Arms of Jesus.'"

"The coffin was then taken to a cemetery on a hill shaded by giant oaks and overlooking a modernistic school building, and there the little old lady was laid to rest beside the grave of a son who had died at age 24. On his tombstone was this inscription: 'Brave, brief and glorious was his career.' He had died in the World War."

"Why (continues the letter) can we not take a page from the Book of Life being written in this small community? This youth had died at 24. Having no one, he had been caught in a conflict which cost him his life—caught him because he was healthy and able-bodied."

"How can there be any progress if we are to sacrifice each generation—if each generation accumulates and decays? How can faith in leaders and governments everywhere be retained if generation after generation is swept into wars they do not want? How can these rural souls, so trustful, retain their trust? 'I think everyone should occasionally visit a small community. There he will see emphasized, better than anywhere else, the fine and hemely virtues which, after all, must prevail if Man is to prevail. There, with the veil of a city's confusion lifted, man can see God.'"

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

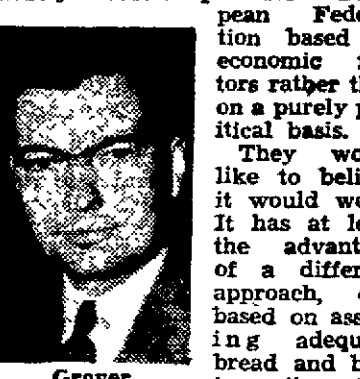

MIGRATION

With a great sweep of wings the wild geese rise
And move across the gray November skies.
Geese in the barnyard feel impelled to fling
Their fortunes with those pilgrims on the wing.
They strive to soar, but vainly. Far above,
Their unattainable white brothers move
Without a glance at those so far behind,
Whose call is drowned by the impatient wind.
Once extended as far south as the Carolinas
And now covers only Northern Canada. In the West the earth is pushing up material; in the East an ice load is being removed. The West is still in a formative period; the East is finished in the sense that its mountains were completely formed ages ago. The distinction will be of small comfort to a purely local slipping of rocks. Yet it is a distinction that the geologist finds useful in his efforts to place seismology on a sound basis and build up a real science of earthquake prediction.—New York Times.

A Bystander In Washington

BY FRESTON GROVER

Washington — Yankee statesmen see really solid ground under the widely discussed plan for a European Federation.

on so-called national inspirations. Two things keep Americans from whooping up a too-eager enthusiasm for the idea.

First is a deep-set belief that European peoples are determined to have their quarrels regardless of the general welfare.

Second is the fact that it is being advanced primarily by England, and therefore, in the eyes of many, should be scrutinized closely. It is popular and politically important just now to look first for propaganda and only later for facts in any proposal from "Perfidious Albion."

Chamberlain Hopes

Chamberlain's speech sounded for a paragraph or so as if he had his eye on Secretary Hull.

"In such a Europe," said Chamberlain, speaking of the "new Europe," he hoped would grow out of the war, "it would be recognized that there can be no lasting peace unless there is a full and constant flow of trade between the nations, for only by increased interchange of goods and services can the standard of living be improved."

Continuing in the same vein he said:

"In such a Europe, fear of aggression will have ceased to exist, and such adjustments of boundaries as would be necessary would be threshed out between neighbors sitting on equal terms around a table, with the help of disinterested third parties if it were so desired."

Europe has been looking for a federation of some sort for a dozen generations. The Catholic Church tried for several hundred years to fend off the break up into tight little nationalities. The Holy Roman Empire, with a far less noble motive, sought this, too.

Louis XIV of France tried two hundred years ago to make Europe a nation of one mind — his own. England shook him down.

The enthusiasts of the French Revolution thought they had found the one-and-only type of government and tried to butter all Europe with it. Napoleon, with the same machinery but fewer of the ideals, dreamed for a time of a sort of United States of Europe — under him. Waterloo ended that.

At the Congress of Vienna in 1815, Prussia, Russia and Austria set out to preserve the status quo in Europe and even in the Americas by the "Holy Alliance." South American nations, and in turn, Greece, Belgium and Spain, shook down that house.

The League of Nations was the next such attempt, but its machinery was too clumsy to make political adjustments that the economic adjustments about which Europe now is talking.

Just a Step Behind the News

By Dave Boone

The League of Nations has called a meeting of the assembly for next Monday on a demand from Finland that it act in the war with Russia, and the members are now chartering armored trucks for the trip. The league would have come to Finland's help except that it felt their support and an unusually heavy vote for the Republican ticket in 1938. To hear their grumbling today, however, one would never suspect it.

The reason is that Heil's payroll cuts in recent weeks have so scared state employees that there has been a sharp reaction in retail trade in the capital city. Although perhaps as few as 200 out of some $5,000 or so Madison persons working for the state have been dropped, morale of state personnel has been sorely affected.

G. O. P. ORGAN

Establishment of a Wisconsin Republican organ, of which many influential party men have felt the need for many years, is still being considered and discussed here. It is frequently pointed out that the Progressive party has maintained a party weekly for decades, in office and out, and made it self-supporting. There is no reason why the Republican organization, with national connections, cannot establish a similar propaganda vehicle, it is argued.

The idea is probably gaining impetus today because there is not a single important general daily newspaper in Wisconsin which is an unqualified supporter of the Republican party as it is now represented under Heil's leadership. Even daily newspaper of any consequence in Wisconsin has criticized the administration more or less severely.

Lecture - Recital Given At Woman's Club Meet In Chilton City Hall

Chilton — Ruth Elizabeth Reber, speech and dramatics teacher at Wayland Academy and Junior college, Beaver Dam, presented a lecture-recital at the regular meeting of the Woman's club in the city hall Monday afternoon.

After a general summing up of Sherwood Anderson's books and plays and the happy choice of actors and actresses for his plays, Miss Reber discussed in particular "The Lincoln in Illinois," reading the outstanding scenes from the book as she discussed them. Most of the scenes were interspersed with wit and humor but the most poignant scene was that of Abe standing on the observation platform bidding his friends in Springfield goodbye.

The Woman's club also heard a polka by a correct trio composed of Dick Winch, John Murphy and Harold Gruber, accompanied by Ruth Hertz at the piano. Lunch was served by the hostesses Mrs. Edmund Boll and Mrs. R. C. Hugo.

Under the Capitol Dome

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — The wave of dismissals in the state service in the last week or so has revived again the whole acrid controversy of the employment of married women in the state government.

It has been brought up again because the list of discharges in the motor vehicle division last week had such a conspicuously large number of names prefixed with "Mrs.," that it appeared that officials responsible for the dismissals had consciously sought out the working wives.

GENERAL IMMEL

Political scouts report to this column that there is a widespread belief among Progressives that Adj. Gen. Ralph M. Immell of the National Guard will pick 1940 to make that campaign for governor, perhaps which he has been thinking for years.

It may be worth noting that Dee Ingold, lately assistant state WPA chief, a highly capable press agent and once a prominent capitol newspaperman, is now employed in the general's capitol office.

BLUE NOTES

Businessmen around Madison's capitol square gave Julius Heil their support and an unusually heavy vote for the Republican ticket in 1938. To hear their grumbling today, however, one would never suspect it.

The reason is that Heil's payroll cuts in recent weeks have so scared state employees that there has been a sharp reaction in retail trade in the capital city. Although perhaps as few as 200 out of some $5,000 or so Madison persons working for the state have been dropped, morale of state personnel has been sorely affected.

VITE

When the bell rang yesterday, if you remember, we had just analyzed the typical American breakfast and found the chief items—a dish of some refined cereal product popularly known as "breakfast food" and toast, cakes, waffles or some other highly nourishing carbohydrate, with sugar or syrup, all delectable, easy to eat, digestible, warming, energizing, fattening, but extremely poor in minerals and vitamins. On that basis the typical American breakfast must be held accountable to a considerable degree for the nutritional deficiency which keeps millions of people in the borderland between invalidism and optimal health. That is the health status of the great majority of people who are not incapacitated by illness. Probably most of them could get by with an insurance examination, yet not 5 per cent of them would rate 90 or above on a real health test.

Now please bear in mind that there are other factors than minerals or vitamins. We'll deal with other factors of low health state or lack of vite in other articles. Here we are trying to point out the way to have vite for or with breakfast. Breakfast is the logical time to stock in some vitamin B-complex, and here's how.

The richest food source of vitamin B-complex (which includes B-1 or thiamin, B-2 or G or riboflavin, nicotinic acid or blacktoquin or pellagra preventive factor, anti-gay factor, anti-dermatitis factor, weight factor, etc.) is plain wheat. Lay in a peck of plain wheat — if you can persuade some farmer, feed or seed store man or even a mill to let you have, say 15 pounds (honestly, some of them don't know what peck means) in its natural state. Then rush a letter to me, asking for the monograph "Wheat to Eat," and you'll soon be having vite for breakfast and probably you'll like it so well that you'll have more at other times in the day.

Or if that is too radical a change from your habitual pan then get a couple pounds of wheat germ and eat three or four heaping tablespoons of it as or with your breakfast cereal or mixed with fruit or fruit juice or incorporated in any recipe calling for flour, in place of half the flour. Wheat germ is five or six times as rich as plain wheat in vitamin B-complex.

Or if even that is beyond your timid reach, then keep on hand a supply of vitamin B-complex tablets (each tablet contains 15 mg. of the essential units of B-1 and all the other factors of the B-complex) and eat an optimal daily ration of B-complex along with breakfast—an average of six such tablets daily.

There is a growing recognition of the need for restoration of the natural vitamin B-complex to bread and some bakers have endeavored to fortify white bread by adding a vitamin B-complex concentrate. When or if that practice becomes universal it will contribute materially toward "preservation of the characteristics of youth" etc., or in other words it will re-VITE-alize what was once the stuff of life.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

PLOW EARLY II AT ALL

Is blowing the nose a cause of sinus trouble or does it tend to aggravate such trouble? What is the proper way to blow the nose? (A. W. Mack)

Answer — Forceful blowing of the nose may excite sinus trouble. It is always better to blow very gently if at all, as a child does. Do not pinch the nostrils, but hold handkerchief under nose and just breathe out thru the nostrils.

Hernia Treatment

It would be a help to many readers who have hernia if you would give the names of reliable doctors who are skilled in the injection treatment. Dr. ... has cured my hernia of twenty years standing, and the treatments never gave me serious discomfort or interfered with my daily work. (E.B.)

Answer—I am glad to name such doctors (if I know of them) in a correspondent's vicinity on his request. Inclose stamped envelope bearing your address.

Wheat Germ

What is the difference between plain wheat, cracked and eaten as a breakfast food, or incorporated in various recipes, and wheat germ in vitamin content? (T. S. M.)

Answer — An ounce of plain wheat contains perhaps 20 international units of vitamin B. An ounce of wheat germ contains perhaps 115 international units of vitamin B.

First Snowfall Visits Appleton

Cloudy Weather Is Predicted for Tonight And Wednesday

Appleton's first snowfall of any consequence this season set in early Monday afternoon and didn't let up until it left its white imprint last evening. Above freezing temperatures today, however, were fast disappearing. Precipitation, melted snow, amounted to .07 of an inch.

The wet, slushy snow of last evening glazed highways and streets when temperatures dropped last night to make motoring and walking hazardous.

Cloudy weather is predicted tonight and Wednesday with slightly warmer temperatures tonight.

Mercury in the thermometer on the roof of the Post-Crescent building registered 34 degrees early this afternoon while maximum and minimum marks during the 24-hour period preceding 9 o'clock this morning were 32 degrees at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon and 25 degrees at 5 o'clock this morning, according to records at the power plant of the Wisconsin Michigan Power company.

Highest and lowest temperatures in the nation yesterday as reported at official weather bureau stations were 68 degrees at Los Angeles, Calif., and 19 degrees at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., according to the Associated Press.

Mrs. Shannon said the Seymour chapter intends to start a production unit soon and Kaukauna, Hortonville and Shiocton chapters are contributing to the cost of sweaters purchased.

The bidding:
South West North East
1 heart Pass 2 hearts Pass
Pass Pass

As may be seen, East and West were pretty well shut out by the course the bidding took, despite the fact that their combined resources would have made a three club contract undefeatable, assuming that the position of the spade queen were guessed. However, East could not safely enter the auction over North's two hearts and West never was in position for a safe bid.

West was rather hard pressed for an opening lead. He might have chosen the diamond queen, but was afraid that this would go into something like the K-10-x in dummy and the ace in declarer's hand, hence decided to make the unorthodox lead of a low club from the ace. Personally, I do not approve such a lead except when the about-to-be-declarer has shown a strength, which case a lead away from an ace may go to a K-J and give the declarer a hard guess. The fact remains that the low club was led and should have been instrumental in later giving declarer a "trick" of the adverse distribution.

East took the first trick with the club king and returned the club king, then shifted to the deuce of diamonds. Declarer's ace won and the club ten was led and ruffed. On this trick West's ace fell, which declarer should have accepted as proof that West now was void of clubs. A spade was led toward the closed hand. East ducked, and the queen lost to the king. West returned the diamond queen. Declarer won with the king and exited with his remaining spade. West's ten held and the spade jack was led back. Declarer ruffed East's ace and now had to make a choice between two lines of play. Dummy's spades had been established; if the trump suit broke 3-3 declarer could lay down the king and queen, then enter dummy with the heart ace and claim the balance. But if the heart suit failed to break, this plan could not succeed.

In order to decide which plan had the better chance of working out, declarer bethought himself of the adverse distribution as revealed up to that point. It was reasonable to assume that West had started with three clubs, and the fact that he had held three spades was established. The fall of the diamonds made it appear almost certain that he had also started with three of these. East had led what was almost surely a fourth best diamond; West had played the diamond eight on the first round and the diamond queen on his own later return. This made it likely that he now had the blank jack. If that were true he had originally started with four hearts and East therefore with only one. Obviously, there was a much greater chance that the jack lay with the four card length than that it was singleton in East's hand. On this sound reasoning declarer now led the diamond ten, and, when West covered with the jack, ruffed in dummy. He then led a spade, after which he led his last diamond and overruffed West's low heart with dummy's ten spot. When the ten held declarer could claim the balance.

Making an extra trick on this hand gave North-South an excellent match-point score.

My Neighbor Says—

If you have only a small amount of meat left, mince it fine, season and form into little balls, wetting the meat with part of an egg. Take the rest of the eggs and mix with some washed and seasoned potato and cover the meatballs with potato, making round balls and fry in deep fat. Or mix the minced meat with dressing made as for turkey dressing, shape in cakes and fry.

CASE RECORDS OF A PSYCHOLOGIST

By Dr. George W. Crane
Psychologist, Northwestern University

Do you know that a baby cannot tell which of two objects is farther away from him? Practical judgment is the product of a double-checking process between two different sensory realms. Our estimation of distance is a product of vision and touch (including muscle and tendon sensations), as Mildred's problem will illustrate.

CASE P-120: Mildred T., aged 18, is one of my college students. "Why does a cavity on one's tongue feel so much larger to the tongue than it looks in the mirror?" she inquired during our General Psychology class.

"Last week I felt a cavity in one of my molars which seemed frightfully big. But actually it would hardly admit the end of a toothpick."

"Dr. Crane, how do you explain this situation?"

DIAGNOSIS: Mildred's observation is probably familiar to most of us, and it is very easily explained.

In the first place, our sense of measurement is acquired. At birth, a baby does not know which of two trees is farther away, though one may be 20 feet distant and the other possibly 100 feet removed.

You feel so readily tell which is the more distant because we are taught ourselves these lessons when we first learned to crawl. At that time we found that the tree which looked more distant, was reached sooner than the tree which had appeared hazy.

Thus, we soon evolved the psychological law that clearness of outline is a means of measuring distance. But this, in turn, first depended upon the number of steps or the amount of crawling required to reach the two trees.

Children Overestimate Space

Because a boy's stride is smaller than an adult's, moreover, he thinks his schoolroom is much larger than it appears to his teacher. This is because it may take him 20 steps to cross the room, whereas she can cross it in 10.

But as he grows older, he isn't aware of his lengthening stride until he may return to his old classroom. Then he marvels at the room's smallness. Throughout the intervening years he had remembered it as a very large room. Now it seems tiny.

When children are only a block away from home, they may thus feel very far off from mamma. Or their clubhouse on the back end of a vacant lot seems very far removed from civilization.

How We Disprove Ghosts

It is customary, therefore, for the sense of vision to be double-checked by the sense of touch. The fingers check upon the eyes and vice versa.

When we see something which appears unreal, we invariably try to finger it. That is why our art museums have their "Hands Off" or "Please do not touch" signs.

A good artist may create such an illusion of depth or the third dimension so well that we want to feel the painting to make sure if it is really a flat surface.

When a person sees a ghost, if he isn't too scared to experiment, he first wants to touch the object to ascertain whether it has solidity.

BY DOROTHY DIX
Dear Miss Dix—I am a boy of 18, just beginning to step out with the girls. My idea is to keep going with different types of girls until I can be a fair judge of the fairer sex. Although at my age I can't see what good understanding girls will do me, I am quite sure that in time I will find it of value, and when I get old enough to marry and decide to say "I do" I will know what I am letting myself in for. Can you give me a key to the girl's riddle? A KID.

Answer: Well, son, you are a wise child to undertake the study of girls while you can still do it in a scientific spirit, and I can only congratulate you upon your far-sightedness. For if you wait until some little cutie has you going around in circles it will be forever too late.

Now no one really understands a girl. She doesn't understand herself. So there is no use in trying to figure out why she does what she does or what she is going to do next. The best you can do is to try to protect yourself from what she is going to do to you.

The first thing, then, to realize is that every girl in her teens is a chameleon. She can change her color, her height, her weight, her general appearance apparently at will, so that one day she is a fat little sugar plum and the next day she is a lanky weeping willow. One day she will be a gay cut-up and the next day she will be a pensive Mona Lisa. Also, one day she will make you think you are the One and Only and the next she won't remember your name.

So harden yourself to these changes in girls and prepare yourself for them. Carry along a fan and your car muff when you go out on a date, and be neither unduly puffed up or cast down by the way little Sweethearts treat you. As long as you live you will have to deal with the feminine temperament, so you can't get used to it too soon.

Remember that every girl you meet is out to get you. That doesn't mean that she wants to marry you, because most girls in their teens want to play around a while before they settle down to domesticity and babies. But all girls are savages who want to capture as many men as possible and hang their scalps at their belts where they can show 'em off to other girls and make them green with envy. So walk warily and don't let the head-hunters get you.

A cynic has said: "Don't believe half you see and nothing that you hear." This is worth bearing in mind when you go up against the girl proposition, because, for some reason that nobody can explain, young girls have a mania for stating to be what they are not and the truth is not in most of them. They will tell you that you are the only boy who ever kissed them. Wow! And that they never date any other boy, when you will know that they were out with your best friend. They will pretend to have read books they have never heard of and to have visited places they have never seen, and that the dress their mamma made for them came from Paris, and that they are hardened sophisticates when they are as innocent as babes in the cradle.

So discount most of the things that girls tell you about themselves. Few of them are as red as they paint themselves. And, finally, son, when you do fall in love, as you are sure to do, take it lightly. Don't let it get you down. Realize that it is just a slight passing attack of heart disease from which you will recover in the course of a month or two. Don't think of love seriously until you are adult and ready to marry. And don't let any girl weep, plead and shanghai you into marriage until you are able to support a family.

Popularity and Two Sisters

Dear Dorothy Dix—Here is a question I would like you to answer if you can: I have two sisters. Both in their late thirties. One is a blonde; won a beauty prize when she was young; married a poor man and they have had a hard struggle to get along, but she loved him and they have always been very happy. The brunette sister has always had things easy. She heckles her husband, corrects him in front of guests, nagged her two children until they hate her and have left home, yet this sister has always been the center of a crowd at her home, drinking and dancing. She never bothers with people when they are sick or in trouble. What is my question? Is why my brunette sister is on all the fun and parties? Why is my sister who is a second angel just popular when people need help? PERPLEXED.

Answer: I think you are mistaking excitement for happiness. You think that your sister who has a crowd of people around her all the time drinking and carousing is popular, but that is an error. She is surrounded by a lot of social deadbeats, good-time Charlies and Charloottes who will go anywhere where there is free food and drink and plenty of noise and laughter. But if tomorrow your sister should lose her money and be unable to entertain there is not a one of them who would come near her.

When a woman of middle age always has to be in a crowd, always has to be rushed from place to place, it is an infallible sign that she is restless and discontented. She has no inner peace, no comfort and she is seeking abroad what she lacks at home. Your sister treats her husband badly, she has been brutal to her children and driven them from home, and she is trying to fill their places with dissipation. You might better pity her than envy her.

The angel sister does not need your sympathy. Her fun is in doing good, not in wild parties. Her friends are the people she has helped. Her home is a place of peace and rest, not a rough-house party. She has the love of her husband, and that makes her rich beyond the dreams of avarice. Don't pity her, envy her.

See Marriage License Bureau

Dear Miss Dix—I am very much in love with a woman whose husband deserted her a great many years ago. She does not know where he is and has not heard from him for many years. We want to be married. What shall we do?

JOHN AND NELL.

Answer: I think there is some little formality that you will have to go through in order to make your marriage legal, but it is a mere technicality. I should think that they could tell you at the Marriage License Bureau what to do.

Inferiority Complex Is Weak Alibi for Backward Children

BY ANGELO PATRI
"Well, the poor child has an inferiority complex. He just can't help it, being poor in arithmetic."

The teacher was puzzled. She had written a note on Toby's report card, stating that he could improve his rating in arithmetic if he learned his tables. Now his mother was saying, "You can't expect Toby to be good in arithmetic because he has an inferiority complex feeling about it." As though that had any meaning for the situation.

"If he learned his tables he wouldn't have any feeling of inferiority because he would not be inferior."

"You don't understand," said mother. "Toby knows that nobody in his family did well in arithmetic, so he has an arithmetic inferiority complex and he can't learn arithmetic. Don't you see?"

"No," said the teacher grimly. "What I see is that Toby thinks he need not get down to the hard task of learning tables because his family never did. I am going to see that he gets by the family failing! If I have to stay in school with him every afternoon from now to Christmas. Any child with normal intelligence can learn his tables and do his arithmetic. Toby can just forget that complex business and get down to work."

Using terms one does not understand is a dangerous business in itself, and pinning a label on a child is never good for the child or those who have to deal with him. Many people seem to feel that when they have named a problem, given it a label, classified it, they have settled the matter. That is not true. We usually have succeeded in covering up or hushing up, something that demanded immediate and understanding attention.

True, conditions must be recognized before they can be treated. We have to have names for ideas and for things. But we must not take the easy way of dismissing a condition because we have found a word for it. Calling a weakness, a habit of laziness, a fear of the unknown, shyness, jealousy, bumbling human weakness and labeling it inferiority complex and letting it go at that, actually feeling smug about it, is being something less than intelligent about life's difficulties. These rarely cure themselves without our sturdy cooperation. We must do something to help ourselves and the children, or the difficulties increase.

The child who does not know his tables so well that they are automatic in his thinking cannot do arithmetic well. He must learn his tables. He can do it, if he is normally intelligent. The shy child must be trained to have confidence in himself and others. We can train him. The child afflicted with a tendency to selfishness, jealousy or intolerance is an ordinary human child, very much like his ancestors, and he can be trained and taught self-discipline if we devote ourselves to that service. In short, children are incomplete forms of the human race, and it is our duty and privilege, as parents and teachers, to help them to complete themselves through helpful experiences. We must never stop with the gesture of a label.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of their children. Write him care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

Beauty and You

by PATRICIA LINDSAY

During the rush of gift buying one is quite likely to forget that an appropriate brush is gratefully received.

Every person should own a good hair brush, even children, and no house should be without a couple of sturdy hand brushes. But gift brushes are more varied than that.

Take for instance those long, natural bristle tweed brushes which two English houses have exported to our shores. Show me the man whose face doesn't brighten when you present him with one of those. Somehow these brushes, because of their shape and bristles, which lift more quickly and efficiently than any other, and they keep the nap of the material from matting.

Brushes for the Bath

A long handled brush for scrubbing one's back is an excellent gift for any person, and if you accompany it with bars of easy-lather, nicely scented soap, it becomes a gift of luxury. For shower devotees, there is an oval, squat affair with a big hole in its short handle by which you may hang it to drain. As both these brushes are constantly used in water their lives are shorter than the average brush and therefore "extras" are always welcomed.

Now let us get down to shaving brushes—many men still use them, you know, even though electric razors are in vogue. A man who does use a shaving brush likes it to be a good one. Otherwise shedding bristles interfere with his face-grooming and irk his good humor!

Shaving brushes run from twenty-five cents to as high as five hundred dollars in cost. Yes, I actually held in my hand a shaving brush worth five hundred dollars. Its bristles were beautifully graduated from long ones in the middle to very short ones, and so soft they felt like down as I brushed them against my cheek.

Experts tell me that a good shaving brush, which will stand up under constant use cannot be produced for less than five dollars, but the average price paid by a man is $3.50. This may guide you if you plan to give hubby one of his stockings. Those which have a standing rack for draining are liked by men, for a shaving brush should be rinsed well each time it is used and so hung or placed that its bristles will dry quickly.

Pet Brushes

For friends who have pets there is an array of brushes from which to choose and the lady who is devoted to her dog will scream with glee if you send her a brush for his coat, tied with a big sprig of holly. The salesman at the pet counter will aid you with your selection for I haven't the space to prattle on about pets and their needs!

My gift list for men is available. Write me care of this paper and enclose a self-addressed, stamped (3-cent) envelope.

KIDDIE OUTFIT

Any man on your Christmas list would be happy to receive a good tweed brush.

It should never be stood on its handle for that permits the water to run down into the roots of the bristles which rots them.

For the boy or girl at school (or for any person who travels a lot) there is a very excellent tooth brush which fits inside its own handle when not in use. Thus you have a case for it when you wish to pack it. This has genuine bristles and comes in a smart box with a can of delectable tooth powder.

Another good brush gift for the teen age (either boy or girl) is one for face scrubbing. Such a brush has specially soft bristles and is classed as a "complexion brush," and usually has a bar of bland complexion soap as a companion. If you know a youngster suffering with adolescent acne, by all means see that he gets one of these, for skin cleanliness is the first step toward correction of such a rash.

For friends who have pets there is an array of brushes from which to choose and the lady who is devoted to her dog will scream with glee if you send her a brush for his coat, tied with a big sprig of holly. The salesman at the pet counter will aid you with your selection for I haven't the space to prattle on about pets and their needs!

New Deal Shows CIO Favoritism, Lawrence States

Department of Justice Has Started Sniping Campaign on A. F. of L.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington. One yardstick for the CIO and another for the A. F. of L.? This is the question which labor leaders are beginning to ask as it grows more apparent that the administration has decided to clamp down on the A. F. of L. and lean more and more toward the CIO.

The belief that the administration, having failed to force peace between the CIO and the A. F. of L., is beginning now to show open favoritism to the John L. Lewis organization is widely expressed among A. F. of L. leaders, and they base it on a number of incidents, the latest of which happened over the last weekend.

First came the announcement that Attorney General Murphy had insisted in his letter to William Green that labor unions were subject to prosecution under the Sherman anti-trust laws. Then came the brief report that the department of justice was planning to appear before the supreme court in the United States in the Apex case as a "friend of the court."

Apex Case
The Apex case involves the Sherman anti-trust law, and is the one in which a CIO union, after staging a "sit-down" strike, was sued for damages, only to have the circuit court of appeals, consisting of three judges recently appointed by the New Deal, dismiss the case. The verdict has amazed well informed lawyers, who cannot understand why the Sherman law is being held not to have been violated.

Just why the attorney general feels he must intervene in a civil suit to benefit a CIO union which participated in a "sit-down" strike is a puzzle when the same arm of the government is writing letters to the head of another labor organization declaring that labor is subject to Sherman law prosecutions.

The A. F. of L. leaders believe that the present policy of the department of justice in prosecuting A. F. of L. leaders criminally is a form of coercion, and that the suits were really instituted at the suggestion of CIO attorneys in positions of influence in the national capital.

Baiting of A. F. of L.
The administration's policy in refusing to allow a verdict in the Apex case to stand without intervening, though no such action is called for by precedents, and the continual baiting of the A. F. of L. through threatened prosecutions under the Sherman law, may have political repercussions.

If, for instance, the Republican party in the next campaign presents a candidate who is fair to labor and a platform that can be sincerely depended upon not to become a basis for wrecking or sabotaging the Wagner act altogether, so as to leave collective bargaining unprotected, there is a good chance that the A. F. of L. will go to the polls in 1940. The A. F. of L. showed what it could do in Pennsylvania in the last gubernatorial election, when it threw its strength to Judge James and helped him to win his election even though the CIO supported the Democratic nominee. The labor vote throughout the United States

HEADS CAMPAIGN

Byron B. Conway, Wisconsin Rapids, will head the 1940 "fight infantile paralysis" campaign in Wisconsin. Conway is president of the Wisconsin Rapids Chamber of Commerce and a special attorney of the United States Department of Justice.

Surprise Party Given At Black Creek Home

Black Creek—A group of 20 friends surprised Gilbert Schmidt Sunday evening at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Schmidt, route 2. The party was in observance of his birthday anniversary. Games were played.

Joseph Barth, Sr., and his nephew William Barth route 1, returned late last week from the north with a bear.

has always been Democratic, so what the Republicans really need to win in the next election is merely the same proportion of the labor vote that they used to get prior to 1932 and 1936. While there are many Democrats among the A. F. of L. members, the resentment over the administration tactics, particularly as it may affect skilled workers in the future, is growing.

Price of Peace
The A. F. of L. has proposed plan after plan for a settlement of the CIO-A. F. of L. controversy, but the price of peace offered by the CIO amounts in the opinion of A. F. of L. leaders virtually to complete surrender to industrial unionism. The A. F. of L. means to protect its craft workers and will fight any administration attempt to use its political power to destroy the A. F. of L. Representing the oldest labor institution in the field, the A. F. of L. leaders feel the terms should call for the perpetuation rather than the emulation of their national organization.

The sniping campaign on A. F. of L. unions begun by the department of justice has already retarded the making of agreements with employers in the building trades, some of whom are contending that they fear eventual prosecution under the Sherman law and hence prefer to do nothing.

So far as the A. F. of L. is concerned, there is a Sherman Anti-Trust law. So far as the CIO is concerned, not a single prosecution has been threatened, and in the one case where the CIO was held by a 3-judge court in 1937 to have violated the Sherman law, the administration now proposes to help the CIO in the supreme court win its battle for escape from responsibility for sabotage and violence in a "sit-down" strike.

Conway to Lead Paralysis Drive

Wisconsin Rapids Man Heads Campaign to Raise Money in State

Wisconsin under the leadership of Byron B. Conway, Wisconsin Rapids, will enter the 1940 "fight infantile paralysis" campaign determined to make the new drive the most successful in the history of the campaigns.

A state-wide organization is being formed by Conway, who promptly accepted the appointment made by Keith Morgan, national chairman of the committee for the celebration of the president's birthday. Community chapters already are planning many celebrations together with the "march of dimes" which will be employed in the drive.

Infantile paralysis made Wisconsin one of its chief targets in 1937 and this year the per capita rate again was high in the state. Seventy-three Wisconsin cases were reported during the 43 weeks prior to Oct. 28. This helped swell the national figure to 6,255, a tremendous increase over the 1,514 cases reported for the same period in 1938.

Appleton to Have Fair Trade Codes

37 Wisconsin Communities Included Under Revised 1939 Law

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—The fair trade practices codes soon to be drafted under the terms of the revised 1939 law will apply to 37 Wisconsin communities, according to Fred M. Wylie, chief examiner of the enforcement division recently set up under authority of the new law.

Barbers, cleaners and dyers, shoe repairers, and beauticians' codes will be formulated during the next few weeks. First hearings for the cleaners and dyers service trade codes will be held at the capitol under the direction of Wylie on Dec. 11.

Advisory committees for the cleaners and the barbers were recently chosen by W. T. Marriott, new head of the code division, and others will be named soon, so that codes are expected to be effective soon after the beginning of the new year.

The regulations on consumer prices, wages, working hours and trade standards will be applied in those counties which have 30,000 population or more, continuous counties, and communities which have at least 5,200 population.

Applicable to the principal cities in the Fox river valley, Green Bay, Appleton, Manitowoc, and Oshkosh, and in addition will cover Two Rivers, Marinette, De Pere, Kaukauna, Neenah and Menasha of the communities in northeastern Wisconsin.

The railroad man's telephone listing had been chosen, from all those in the United States, for the call that won the award.

Expect Capacity Crowd to Hear Singing of 'Messiah'

ONE of the most popular musical events of this vicinity is the annual presentation of Handel's Messiah, which will be given this year in Lawrence Memorial chapel at 8 o'clock Sunday evening, Dec. 10. Because of the excellence of the work done by the Schola Cantorum of Lawrence college, under the direction of Dean Carl J. Waterman, there is always a capacity audience in the chapel for this performance. This year the accompaniment will be played by the Lawrence Symphony orchestra, which is being trained by Dr. Percy Fullinwider. The orchestra will play the beautiful "Pastoral Symphony," which appears in Part I of the oratorio and is known for the tranquility and beauty of its melody.

Among the well-loved choruses to be presented by the chorus of 200 voices are the majestic "And the Glory of the Lord," the stirring "Glory to God," and "Lift Up Your Heads," the intricately beautiful "For Unto Us A Child is Born," the solemn "Surely He Hath Borne Our Griefs," and the magnificent "Hallelujah Chorus." Not so well-known, but equally beautiful are the choruses, "His Yoke is Easy," "All We Like Sheep," and "And With His Stripes we are Healed."

Soloists for the oratorio will be Miss Janet Flewell, soprano, Miss Dorothy Plittroff, contralto, William Hogue, tenor, and Paul Jones, baritone. All of them are students at Lawrence college and Lawrence Conservatory of Music and are known through concert and recital appearances.

Miss Taylor is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Taylor of Waupaca. Two years ago John Tivonovac, class of 1940, State Teachers college, chose her to share the honors of the sophomore informal, and this year Miss Taylor has returned the favor by inviting him to be co-chairman of the annual formal inter-society dance next Saturday in the Fern room of the Pfister hotel.

Miss Taylor will wear a floor-length dress of black. The bodice is of velvet with large puffed sleeves that stand up to the shoulders, and a heart-shaped neckline. The skirt contains yards of flowing black taffeta and with the gown which Miss Taylor describes as "feminine" she will wear a velvet and pearl throat-bow, a headband and a pearl bag. Tivonovac has decided to wear a dark business suit rather than the more formal tuxedo which the council also sanctions.

Old Reliable Gifts for Men As Plentiful as Ever, Plus New Ideas to Help Shoppers

BY DON ANDERSON
A sojourn in the quiet comfort of any Appleton's men's clothing stores, fitted out with well-stocked necktie cases and trim piles of shirt boxes, ought to give you an idea on what gifts to buy for father, brother, or the favorite boy friend. Socks are as abundant as ever. Those for dress up occasions or an afternoon on skis. You can ponder over a symphony of color in the rows of neckties, wondering whether Uncle Archie would like that one or whether Aunt Jennie would threaten to leave him if he wore it. There are a few new wrinkles in shirts. An attractive number has a soft pleated front, with plain back. It comes in stripes, or solid colors, with a short pointed collar. You can purchase almost any color in shirts, if you are thinking of a man who likes almost any color. If he's quarrelsome on the subject of shirts, you can play safe and get white ones. There are plenty of those, too. The manufacturers, moving ahead each year in true American style, have created some clever new apparel and gadgets that men find interesting.

If the man you have in mind when you go shopping likes to hunt birds, perhaps he would enjoy making that side of him. His clothes. He can do it, and it doesn't involve wearing the tailfeather of a pheasant on the brim of his hat or hanging a duck bill on his watch chain. Simply this: One cravat manufacturer has caught the spirit of the hunt with a "game bird series." No kidding. You can get a four-in-hand with patterns of woodcocks, pheasants, ducks and grouse, all in appropriate colors.

English Braces
From abroad, according to a merchant, comes smart new spring braces (English name for suspenders) and spring belts. They are called "expanding spring" and are said to be more durable and comfortable than others. They are part leather, of course, and are coming in for a lot of attention.

Matching robes and pajamas for men is one of the newer lines displayed. The prices are reasonable enough and the product well made. A handsome suit hanger, that goes far beyond the usual article to make the garment feel comfortable while at rest in the closet, is displayed in one store. The shoulder rests are shaped with a tufted pants holder between the sloping bars, the entire gadget done in light, good-looking wood.

The electric pants presser, which is alleged to turn out a crisp crease in less time than it takes to set up an ironing board, is becoming a familiar sight in men's shops. Shown in Appleton stores, it simply grips the crease of the trousers and, with pressure and heat, fulfills its purpose. You work it while the trousers are hanging up.

Styles in men's sport shirts and jackets are especially racy this year. Popular the country over and prevalent in Appleton men's stores are jackets of bird cloth, claimed to be windproof and waterproof. Worn over sweaters, they are ideal for skiing, skating and other winter recreations. Handsome, too.

Soft Jacket
Another jacket, soft as eider down is a combination of rayon and wool. Gabardine sport shirts and rugged looking wool shirts are getting shoppers' eyes.

For men who go camping during the winter, one store is showing a pair of woolen pajamas guaranteed to fight off winter drafts in a log cabin—with the help of a few blankets, of course. But these pajamas really are heavy. They're 2-piece and you'd think the top was a wool sweater.

A neat red cellophane package observed in one store opens to reveal a full-size men's raincoat, made of treated silk. It weighs only 4½ ounces and you could shove the whole garment in a coat pocket and still have room for two packages of cigarettes.

If you're still stuck, how about: Cuff links and studs... Necktie pins and holders... Coarse sleeveless sweaters with leather fronts... Gaily colored socks that combine warmth and looks... Smartly designed bill folds... Toilet sets... Flashy underwear that men will wear because you can't see it... Electric razors.

What's New at the Library

An important work which Carl Sandburg, well known for his poetry, has been preparing for some time, is his biography of Abraham Lincoln in four volumes which arrived at Appleton Public library last week. It covers the war years of the beloved liberator, beginning with Springfield and Lincoln's election to the presidency of the United States and continuing on in great detail with the events of his administration, the Civil war and finally his tragic death at the hands of the assassin John Wilkes Booth. It is full of anecdotes and many incidents probably not uncovered heretofore.

Noel Coward whose versatility has been proved by his accomplishments as an actor, playwright, author, composer and lyricist, now appears as a short story writer with the publishing of a volume entitled "To Step Aside." It is composed of seven short stories which display his barbed humor and bitter wit and demonstrates his unerring eye for human foibles. The title is taken from a quotation by Robert Burns, "To step aside is human."

"Twenty Best Plays of the Modern American Theater" edited by John Gassner, includes the following: "Idiot's Delight," "Of Mice and Men," "Golden Boy," "The Women," "End of Summer," "Green Pastures," "Dead End," "Yes My Darling Daughter," "Boy Meets Girl," "Winterset," "The Children's Hour," "Tobacco Road," "Bury the Dead," "Yo-Cum," "Take It With You," "Stage Door," "The Animal Kingdom" and others.

How to maintain discipline in the home, how to teach children to handle money, to explain the facts of life and to meet the challenges of the movies and radio are laid down in "We, the Parents" by Sidonie Matsner Gruenberg.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor and one of the most active and forceful figures on the American scene today, has taken time out to write a book entitled "Labor and Democracy." He has devoted his entire life to the cause of labor in America, and he uses his own life of toiler and union leader as the basis for his book, considering labor's problems, and its role in the preservation of the democratic way.

Any woman who joins a club or finds herself elected to office in an organization and who wants to know something about carrying on the duties of her position will find "Leadership for Today's Clubwoman" by Edna La Moore Waldo a help. It presents a clear cut modern program for developing one's natural talent for group leadership, prepares one for executive responsibilities and covers all types and classes of women's organizations from small local study groups to the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

"Sea Power and Today's War" by Fletcher Pratt is a technical study of the strength of the sea powers and an analysis of their tactics and strategy in time of war. The author describes the strength and weakness of each country's navy.

Fog and Speed are Blamed for Death In Auto Accident

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau
Oshkosh — "An automobile accident caused by poor visibility as a result of fog and improper speed under those conditions," was the cause of the death of Doris Norowski, 16, Oshkosh, a coronor's jury ruled here Monday afternoon.

Miss Norowski was fatally injured on county trunk A, one mile north of the state hospital, when a car driven by John Naleway, 22, 702 Milwaukee street, Menasha, left the highway, crashed into a tree and burst into flames, Nov. 18. Miss Norowski, 16, 511 Fifth street, Menasha, is still at Mercy hospital here recovering from severe cuts. She and John Ratajczak, 20, route 2, Oshkosh, were also passengers in the machine.

Naleway, driver of the car, testified that he could see the highway in places but that the fog limited visibility to about 100 feet. He told the jury that he was driving about 40 to 45 miles per hour when he rode onto the shoulder and crashed into a tree as he tried to swerve back on the concrete.

The Menasha man said he had a bottle of beer at a Menasha tavern before the party started for Oshkosh at 9:15 the evening of the accident. He said he never thought about using his windshield wiper although the windshield was steamed up. He remembered nothing after the accident and could not account for his car leaving the concrete.

Girls Testify
Miss Falkowski was interviewed at the hospital. She said she had visited Naleway's the night of the accident and that Ratajczak and Miss Norowski called for them at Naleway's home about 8:30. From there they went to a tavern where everyone in the party had a beer and danced. They left for Oshkosh at 9:15, she said.

The Menasha girl was riding in the front seat and declared the night was "very foggy." She said she asked Naleway how fast they were driving and he told her "about 35 or 40." She remembered the car leaving the road and then forgot everything else until she regained consciousness in the hospital.

Ratajczak, the owner of the car, was riding in the back seat with Miss Norowski. He said he had nothing to drink at the home but had a beer at the tavern. He said he didn't know when the accident occurred and didn't pay any attention to the fog. He testified that he thought Naleway was driving right but that he could not tell how the accident took place.

The jury was out 17 minutes. Jurors were W. H. Leisch, foreman; Albert J. Kusch, Amos Wirtz, John Spanbauer, Paul Schania, and Arthur Gabbert, Oshkosh.

Begin Tuberculin Testing Work at Menasha Schools

Annual Program Gets Underway at Jefferson School Today

Menasha — The annual tuberculin testing program of the Menasha City Health department in cooperation with the Winnebago county Medical society and the Winnebago county board of supervisors, opened today at Jefferson school. About 350 students of junior, senior and vocational school age returned permit cards signed by their parents for the tests. The students are from both public and parochial schools.

Local physicians again are co-operating in administering the tests. The testing committee again decided to concentrate on the junior and senior high school age group. Members of the committee include Dr. L. S. Shemanski, city physician; H. O. Haugh, city health officer; F. B. Younger, superintendent of schools; the Rev. Joseph Becker, principal of St. Mary's High school; A. J. Armstrong, principal of Menasha High school, and Mrs. Sigrid M. Dudley, R.N., school health instructor.

Last year the test was administered to 749 persons. The tests revealed 77 positive reactors. The tests were followed up with 58 X-ray examinations through the co-operation of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association and 13 X-ray examinations by private physicians.

Doesn't Indicate Disease
In 1937 the tests were administered to 592 persons with 16 positive reactions. The nurse explained that a positive test means that the child has been exposed at some time or other to tuberculosis and that some of the germs have become lodged in the body. It does not necessarily mean that the child has an active form of tuberculosis.

If the body's resistance is kept up, the active form of tuberculosis can be prevented. Adequate food, rest and fresh air will keep up the weight and the resistance. All positive reactions will be followed with X-ray examination. No child will be excluded from school unless found to have active tuberculosis. The tests, which were administered today, must be read within 48 hours.

The test consists of putting a small drop of liquid between the layers of the skin. If a slightly raised, red spot occurs about that point within 48 hours it is called a positive test. If no redness follows it is called a negative test, which means that nothing in the way of tuberculosis has happened to the child.

Maas Hits Papers For Play Given to 'Remark' by Heil

Governor's Secretary Says 'Wine, Women, Song' Story Was Magnified

Neenah — Scoring the newspapers for magnifying a "passing remark," Colonel William Maas, executive secretary to Governor Julius P. Heil, said in a talk to the Neenah club at a noon luncheon Monday at the club rooms that when the governor made his remark about "wine, women and song," he gave one of the finest talks on conservation but the papers didn't report that.

Declaring that the governor in his whimsical way mentioned "wine, women and song" in passing, the secretary reported that $208,000 was spent in lobbying at the last session of the legislature, more money than was paid representatives for the period. He said, however, that the remark didn't apply to everybody and the governor didn't intend that it should.

Colonel Maas said that the names of the legislators who proposed amendments to the budget bill which would have boosted the budget over $100,000,000 will be made known, and he declared that the hundreds of jobs made for people by the preceding administration would be done away with and that the present administration can get along without them.

No Special Session
Colonel Maas said that according to present indications, the administration would go along without a special session of the legislature, using funds available to carry them through.

The secretary lauded Assemblymen James Fritzen, Neenah, for his work in the legislature. He said that he was one of the Republicans who stayed within the platform of the party. He criticized other Republicans who threatened to increase the budget and then asked "Why do we have to beg them to do what is best for their job?"

He said this work is bigger than parties, Republican, Democrat or Progressive. It is Americanism. "I'd sooner live in a flourishing democracy than in a perfect dictatorship."

Pick Oshkosh in Valley Cage Race

Opens With Seven Lettermen; Loses Four at End of Semester

3 SCHOOLS STRONG

Fond du Lac, Sheboygan Central, West Bays Have Possibilities

FOX VALLEY CONFERENCE
Friday's Games
Fond du Lac at Appleton.
West at Sheboygan North.
Fond du Lac at Appleton.
Oshkosh at Manitowoc.

FOX RIVER Valley conference high schools will open the season Friday night with Oshkosh expected to wade through everything during the first half of the season and with the second half a dog-fight. The Indians will start with almost all of last year's championship aggregation and then lose four good boys through mid-year graduation.

Fond du Lac, Sheboygan Central and perhaps Green Bay West will be the closest contenders, according to conclusions reached at a meeting of Valley sports writers last evening at Green Bay at which the cage prospects were the topic of discussion. As usual, Sheboygan wasn't represented and information concerning its two schools was rather vague. The meeting was held at the Beaumont hotel with the coaches and the various basketball coaches guests of the Green Bay Press-Gazette at a dinner.

Going over the cage prospects, the writers learned the following:

Oshkosh: Coach Jack Nussbaum has seven lettermen to start with, members of last year's championship team. They are Ed Erban, Hanky center, Hanson, Alden Luker, Wood and Bill Nenn, forwards, Ditter, guard, and Dick Bixby, forward and the conference's high scorer last season with 125 points.

Four Graduate Erban, Hanson and Ditter will be graduated in February, the midway mark in the conference schedule. Much will therefore depend on how fast DeBennke, Webster and Dietz, guards, develop to carry on where the others leave off. Oshkosh has scored impressive wins over Milwaukee Lincoln and Waupun to date.

Green Bay West: F. L. Perzacca, again handling West, will have four lettermen who are tall but slow and who so far haven't shown shooting ability. West beat Algoma and Menasha but lost to New London. The veterans are Gifford Nelson, forward, Art Gess, guard, John Howland, forward, and Lawrence Kitten, center. If West develops it will cause trouble.

Green Bay East: Things look rather gloomy for Coach George Berg. He has one letterman in Al Marcheski and the latter has a sprained ankle. The squad is small and lacks experience. It lost to Shawano and Marinette by big scores in defeated Kaukauna.

Appleton: Starting his first season, Coach Myron Seims will have one veteran, Bill Burton, forward or center, and several boys from last year's undefeated reserve team. The latter are Carleton Powers and Ben Blacher, guards, Bob Lathrop and Chuck Rollins, centers, Stewer, Cooper and Charles Kliefoth, forwards. They lack height and aren't fast although they handle the ball fairly well.

Stacy at Fond du Lac Fond du Lac Coach Del Stacy will be making his debut after several successful years at New London and has a lot of stuff. He has five lettermen in Stanley Goeres and Bill Bennett, forwards, Ken Wilderman, Hubie Dieckvoes and Fred Tautges, guards. Fondy has a weakness at center but is fighting for the post and may come through. Both are well over 6 feet. Fondy has defeated West Allis and Waupun, the latter by a score far from that turned in by Oshkosh. It was 17 to 9.

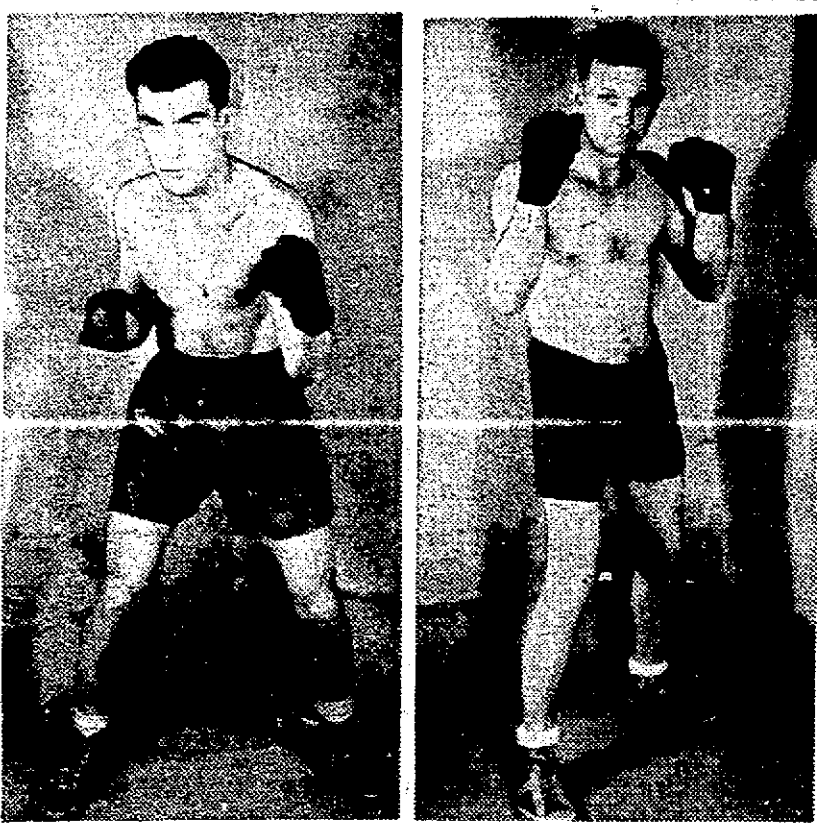

Manitowoc: It looks like a lean year for Al Guepe, starting his first season as coach. He has no lettermen, but last year's reserves will give him three big boys and two small lads. His probable starters are Harlan Manthey and Red Tadych, forwards, Ray Stoenmeyer, center, Jack Krohn and Lee Hansen, guard. The ships beat Kiel Dock-Lost to Menasha St. Mary's.

Sheboygan Central: The Central outlook is a guess because there was no representation. Carl Hilbert is returning as coach and in pre-season games has used several boys whose names were on last year's box scores. Among them are Schroeder and Backey, forwards, Janssen, center, and Simenz and Hurthine, guards. They are reported to have considerable height.

Sheboygan North: North, under John Hahn, probably will be shoved around again for lack of material. Batt, forward, Wolf, center, and Ahl, guard, are the only veterans.

Will Compile Standings

It was agreed that the writers association will keep standings of the junior varsity games this season for the first time and cooperation of the coaches in helping the writers get box scores was asked. Persons attending the meeting were Coach Al Guepe and Harry Chandler, Manitowoc; Coach Myron Seims, Dick Davis and Gordon McIntyre, Appleton; Evan McDonnell and Coach Donald Martin, Oshkosh; Art Daley and Coach Del Stacy, Fond du Lac; the Rev. Thomas Fox and Coach Mickey McCormick, St. Norbert college; West De Per; Coaches F. L. Perzacca and Lars Thorne, Green Bay West; Coach George Berg, Green Bay East, and John Walter, Jim

Carleton Easy For Wisconsin

Badgers Register 37 to 19 Win After Starting Slowly

Madison (AP)—After a slow first half the University of Wisconsin basketball team picked up steam and scored a 37-19 triumph over Carleton college in its first intercollegiate battle here last night before a crowd of 4,200.

The Badgers held a 12-9 halftime lead and after the start of the final period Gene Englund, Kenosha center, poured in 8 baskets and a free throw, enough to give him high scoring honors for the evening. Bob Schwartz, Badger forward, was runner-up with 11 points.

Coach Marshall Diebold's Carls resorted to long shooting throughout the contest with little success. Wisconsin's set formations which failed to click early in the game began functioning and they held the upper hand for the greater portion of the battle.

Dick Raiter, chunky blonde forward and Capt. Quintus Nelson, center, led the Carleton offensive with 6 points each.

CARLS TO MEET CATS

Evansville, Ill. (AP)—The Northwestern basketball team opens its season tonight against Carleton college, a team already defeated twice by other Western conference quintets.

Carleton bowed before Wisconsin last night, 37 to 19, after losing a three-point decision to Iowa last Saturday night.

Northwestern is the only Big Ten five in action tonight, but two others make their debuts Wednesday night. Illinois takes on Wabash and Monmouth in a doubleheader and Chicago opens against Chicago Teachers.

EAU CLAIRE WINS

Eau Claire (AP)—Eau Claire Teachers college won a non-conference basketball game last night from Winona (Minn) Teachers, 40 to 35.

Straubel, John Torinus and Richard Platley, Green Bay. The next meeting will be held in the spring at Appleton to pick an all-conference basketball team.

Expect Sellout for Packer-Giant Game; 20,000 Ducats Gone

Milwaukee (AP)—The stamped for tickets for next Sunday's National Pro Football league championship game here between the Green Bay Packers and New York Giants continued unabated today, with every indication of a sellout in a day or two.

Best guess was that about 20,000 tickets have been sold, half of them here and half at Green Bay. State fair park, where the game will be played, will hold only about 31,000, even with 5,000 additional bleacher seats.

While players and fans alike marked time, the park management took no chances with the weather. The playing field was covered with hay to absorb moisture and keep off any possible snow.

Report Dodgers Offered $200,000 For Joe Medwick

Baseball Meeting Produces Little; Bramham Warns His Minors

BY GAYLE TALBOT
INDEPENDENCE, O., (AP)—In the absence of any real news, the hero of the minor league and major league baseball convention here will have to remain Judge William G. Bramham, the czar of the little fellows, who at the last account at least was viewing with alarm.

The roly-poly head of the minor leagues spoke loud and importantly late yesterday, saying that there was skulduggery within his kingdom in the form of face contracts, and that baseball faced some bad days indeed.

No one, as a matter of fact, was very much excited over whether Judge Bramham had or had not discovered some fast work inside his organization, but his remarks at least offered a diversion. His report upon the sad state of affairs in baseball—in the minor leagues—embodied the boys for the time being to forget that the big leaguers still had made no trades.

"They still are here—all of them—and they have been jawing since Saturday. Potentially, there might be a baseball player deal every 15 minutes, with the way the magnates talk. But they make no trades, whatsoever, and Judge Bramham supplies the news."

Offer $200,000

One interesting thing was the disclosure by General Manager Larry MacPhail of the Brooklyn Dodgers that at one time offered $200,000 cash for Joe Medwick of the St. Louis Cardinals. MacPhail incidentally said he still had that much money waiting for Medwick.

Judge Bramham—to get back to the most exciting man of the meeting—made his charges in the middle of the afternoon, when almost everybody was standing in the lobby talking about nothing in particular. Only a few heard him.

The judge is a power in baseball, though nothing much is heard of him, as a rule. He runs the little league with the same iron hand that the Judge Landis runs the big show. Among other things, he tries to tell the minors how not to ruin aful of Judge Landis.

Judge Bramham said he knew of one club, "owned by a millionaire," that was paying its players a lot more than the figures called for on the contracts sent into him. He said this was sinful and that, furthermore, Landis probably would catch on to it and punish the sinners.

The best club of them all, the New York Yankees, haven't figured in the trade conversations. None of the high officials of the world champions had turned up yet.

It is not as though the Yankees were not interested in helping themselves. They know that their veteran pitching staff is about to curl up, and they want to get Buck N-wson from Detroit.

Cubs, Tigers May Trade Shortstops

Bartell Had Bad Season With National Leaguers Last Year

Chicago (AP)—The Chicago Times said last night the Chicago Cubs "had agreed" to trade shortstop Dick Bartell to the Detroit Tigers for shortstop Billy Rogell.

The Times story, printed under a Cincinnati dateline, said however, that the deal would not be completed until owner Walter Briggs of Detroit and owner Phil Wrigley of the Cubs arrive later in the week at the winter baseball meeting in Cincinnati.

Wrigley said here that he had an appointment with Briggs in Cincinnati Friday, but did not discuss the nature of his business with the Tiger boss.

The Cubs went to the meeting admittedly seeking a shortstop to replace the veteran Bartell, who experienced one of the worst seasons of his career last season. Rogell also is a big league veteran, both shortstops having spent 12 years in the majors.

College Football Seems to Have Struck Scoring Balance

BY HUGH S. FULLETON, JR.
NEW YORK (AP)—The nation's football coaches came close to striking a balance between offense and defense in the past season, the 18th annual Associated Press survey of nationwide football scoring records showed today.

Their teams still managed to hit the high spots on occasion, but the average, dropped off considerably from last year's high figures.

The 205 teams covered in this year's survey averaged 112.98 points each for the season and 13.06 points a game. A year ago, the averages were 114.36 for the season and 13.53 a game. That game

Attendance at College Contests Shows an Increase

Popular - Priced Tickets Given as One Reason For New Mark

BY BILL WHITE
NEW YORK (AP)—The popularity of that well-known "triple-threat"—a good game, a clear day and popular-priced tickets—was reflected again this year in an increase in college football attendance.

Although the rise was not astounding, save in two regions, the increase showed the college game still is doing nicely at the gate.

But in every case in which an increase was noted, the comment centered around statements similar to this: "We had good weather; our games were better, and our tickets were not priced too high."

Based on reports from 69 representative schools throughout the nation, an Associated Press survey today showed a 333-game attendance mark of 7,570,150 for 1939, compared with 7,489,785 for 341 games a year ago. That is a gain of barely over one per cent for the entire country.

Had it not been for substantial increases in the Rocky Mountain area and south, the figure might not have shown an increase.

A three-way fight for the championship among Colorado, Utah and Denver, plus May-like weather, caused the mountain attendance to increase by 19 per cent.

And thanks to a big helping hand by Tulane, enjoying one of its best seasons, southern figures skyrocketed 11 per cent.

Tulane set what is claimed to be a southern record by playing before 267,796 in eight home games, as against 92,027 last year.

The far west showed a gain of four per cent, due largely to a grand U.C.L.A. team which drew about 400,000—the largest crowd to see any one team in the country. That includes an estimated 101,000 for next Saturday's game with Southern California.

The midwest gained only 0.01 per cent over 1938. The big losses were the southwest and the east, although the Harvard-Yale game drew 52,000, the largest crowd since 1931.

The east dropped about four per cent, and the southwest slidded about 18 per cent under last year's attendance.

One of the most sensational gains was made by the Iowa State team, which drew only 133,000 this season, but played to 237,500 this season.

Aggies, Vols, USC are Tops

Texas Team Holds Edge, However, by Virtue of Ten Wins

NEW YORK (AP)—You can take your pick among Texas A. and M., Tennessee and Southern California as the nation's best 1939 football team, but right now the experts are picking the Aggies.

They completed their regular campaign last week with their tenth straight victory, while their two leading rivals have to play a couple of dangerous rivals Saturday before they can breathe easily, sit back and wait for bowl bids.

It may have been a wait-and-see attitude on the part of the football experts participating in the season's next-to-last Associated Press ranking poll that made them list the Aggies, Tennessee and Southern California in that order.

Texas A. and M., rated first by 28 of the 97 voters, polled 783 points of a possible 870. Tennessee, moved into second place with 19 first-place votes and 741 points, and the Trojans came in third with 18 first and 709 points.

The remarkably close call Southern California had against Washington last Saturday, winning 9-7 in the last two minutes of play, apparently influenced the experts considerably. A week ago, after their triumph over Notre Dame, the Trojans shared the lead with the Aggies. Tennessee was fourth last week, but bounced back again after its decisive victory over Kentucky.

U.S.C. Ends Season
Southern California's rival in the season's window this weekend is U.C.L.A. and the rankings reflected the general forecast for the game—U.S.C. overcoming stubborn opposition to win Tennessee faces Auburn, a possible upset, with its backfield stars, George (Bad News) Cafego and Johnny Butler, injured.

The standing of the teams (points figured on 10-9-8 etc., basis, first-place votes in parentheses):
Team Points
1—Texas A. and M. (28) 783
2—Tennessee (19) 741
3—Southern Calif. (18) 709
4—Cornell (15) 665
5—Tulane (5) 572
6—Duke (1) 397
7—Missouri 242
8—Iowa 138
9—U.C.A. 92
10—Duquesne 90
Second ten—11. Notre Dame, 88; 12. Ohio State, 82; 13. Georgia Tech, 62; 14. Boston College, 57; 15. Clemson (1), 46; 16. Santa Clara, 39; 17. Nebraska, 21; tied for 18. Fordham and San Jose (Calif.) State, 20 each; 19. Georgetown, 19.

Also ran—Michigan 13; Princeton and North Carolina, 11 each; Oregon State and Southern Methodist, 6 each; Villanova 4; Oklahoma 3; Holy Cross, Colorado and Minnesota, 1 each.

John Kimbrough Rejoins Aggies

Ear Drum Pierced: Leg Is Badly Battered From Last Game

College Station, Tex.—(AP)—Gathered once more to thresh out bowl matters, the unbeaten Texas Aggies were a little rarer than usual today. John Kimbrough, their mighty fullback, had been pronounced sound.

One ear drum was pierced and a leg pretty badly battered in the Thanksgiving day clunker against Texas, but big John was back on the campus again after receiving treatment from his brother, Dr. Earnest Kimbrough.

John rejoined the Aggie squad to vote on its New Year's day bowl preference. Brother Jack, reserve end who has been injured, was there too.

Inside sources said New Orleans' Sugar Bowl was the probable choice.

Kimbrough, a six foot, two inch giant whose 210 pounds is streamlined, isn't through with the terrific line smacking that made him the most feared plunger of the season. He still has another year.

"John Kimbrough," said Coach Homer Norton with sincerity, "is the greatest football player I've ever had. He can do everything and do it well. He is big, rugged and can take punishment. He is exceptionally fast for his size and we use him not only as a line plunger, but also on the sweeps. That boy has the old competitive spirit—and his hardest when the going's toughest."

Coach Norton has also tutored such stalwarts as Gerry Geisler, the old Centenary all-America end, Joe Routt, twice all-America with the Aggies and Dandy Dick Todd, a great runner now with the Washington Redskins.

New England Colleges Would Adopt a Code
Boston—(AP)—An eight-point code designed to eliminate objectionable practices, such as "prosecuting," and to stamp out "unsavory gossip" about college athletics, particularly football, was ready today for presentation to heads and athletic officials of 32 New England colleges.

A recommendation that the code be adopted was passed yesterday at the 32nd annual meeting of the association of New England colleges for conferences on athletics but must be approved by all the member institutions before it becomes effective.

Attacked in the new code were such practices as coaches visiting prospective students, which "could be interpreted only as proselytizing," promises by coaches or athletic officers of scholarship aid or jobs to athletes, and the problems of training table rates and free rooming accommodations for those with athletic ability.

Clintonville Five Loses to Manawa
Auctioneers Suffer First Defeat in Central Wis. League

Clintonville—The Clintonville Auctioneers dropped their first game out of three in the newly organized Central Wisconsin circuit Sunday when they bowed to Manawa at Manawa, 24 to 20. The Auctioneers got off to a good start and rolled up 10 points in the first quarter to Manawa's 8. In the second quarter the Clintonville quintet began to falter at the intermission was leading 14 to 11. The last half was disastrous for the Auctioneers with no one on the squad really able to connect.

While Clintonville controlled the ball, nearly the whole game its shots were wild. Manawa went in to the lead in the third quarter and was ahead at the end of the third period, 18 to 17. In the fourth quarter, both squads played on even terms up to the last 30 seconds when the victors scored two quick baskets to win 24 to 20.

Curly Decker, Manawa forward, dominated the scoring with five baskets and three free throws for 13 points. Ray Knitt led the Clintonville aggregation with three buckets for six points.

Kimberly Quint Out of Cage Race
Holy Name Will Find It Difficult to Repeat in Boys Conference

Menasha—Holy Name of Kimberly, co-champions of the Catholic Boy conference last year, will have a hard task to repeat this season, according to Leo R. Kraus, secretary of the conference.

The entire Holy Name first team, including three reserve players, will not be available this year. The Rev. Alfred Hietpas, coach of the grade school entry, will have to start building over.

Two reserves from last year provide a nucleus around which to build the team. They are "Butch" Larson and "Snail" Van Cuyk. Other players include Don Shires, Bourassa, Joe Vanden Heuvel, Trostelt, and Gaffney. In addition there is a large group of small boys to choose from.

The Catholic Boy conference is scheduled to open its season Wednesday night with three games at St. Mary's gymnasium, Menasha. However, an examination for basketball officials is being conducted the same night and it may be necessary to postpone the opening.

Owens Talking to 'Man Behind Him' on That Disputed Kick

NEW YORK (AP)—Stout Steve Owens, who coaches the New York Giants of the National Pro Football league, told the biggest wheeler of the entire 1939 season yesterday.

It was at the metropolitan football writers luncheon, and Toastmaster Allison Danzig had just asked Steve whether he thought the field goal try by Beau Russell of the Washington Redskins in the last 45 seconds of yesterday's pro game was good or wide.

"As a matter of fact," said Owens, "I wasn't even watching when the kick was made. I was talking, and his face still was as dead-pan as ever. To a man sitting behind me." There was a second of shocked silence, and then the place broke into an uproar of laughter.

"Seriously, though," Owens resumed, "I was in no position to judge. We won, 9-7, because the kick failed. But if referee Bill Halloran had called it good, there'd have been no squawk from me. He's always called 'em as he saw them."

Stout Steve said he thought his Giants would have won the game, the eastern division title and the right to meet Green Bay for the league championship far more easily if they hadn't become careless in the second half.

The Kick "Feet's" Barnum had blocked "his own fault," the coach explained, "because Barnum's edge faded at least a step and a half before the ball was snapped. Then Halloran warned our boys they weren't coming to a full stop on their shift, and they changed the count. Instead of going on a four-count they were supposed to go on 6. But only half of them remembered. The other still ran on the old system, that cost us three penalties for a back in motion inside the Washington 10-yard line."

Wega Favored as Central Wis. Fives Gird for Openers

Season Opens Friday; Iola Expected to Offer Most Opposition

BY PETE WALCH
MANAWA—Opening games in the Central Wisconsin high school basketball conference will be played Friday evening, Dec. 8, with Manawa traveling to Marion, Iola playing at Weyauwega, and Amherst invading Waupaca.

Weyauwega, tying for the championship with Manawa a year ago, must again be rated the favorite, but the Indians will get their toughest competition from a fast and rangy Iola quint that has shown surprising strength in preliminary games. Both Marion and Manawa will have teams that should improve as the season progresses.

While Waupaca is expected to be weaker than a year ago, Amherst probably will wind up in last place, as it did last year, as there simply does not appear to be much material at the Portage county school.

Weyauwega
Coach Ron Murray at Weyauwega starts his fourth season blessed with such stars as Gil Hertz, giant forward, LeRoy Grancorbtz, center, and Ken Prentice, guard. His first team will include Martin Kobiski, forward, and Keith Wall at guard. This team averages well over six feet, with Prentice being the only player under that height.

Hertz, Grancorbtz, and Wall are seniors, Prentice a junior, and Kobiski a sophomore.

Others on the squad include Lloyd Nelson, guard, now out with a foot-bail injury, who may take over one of the guard posts later in the season, Harold Grancorbtz and Gordon Fenske at center. Gale Steiger and Howard Holcomb, guards, and Douglas Frost, a first-year find, at forward.

Manawa
Manawa has only one man back from last year's team who could be classed as a regular. He is Len Behnke, senior, shifted this year from forward to center. Other members of the starting team thus far, however, have included two juniors and two seniors, all of whom have had experience. The seniors are Bill Schold, guard, and Torch Garrity, forward. The juniors are Bob Yohr, guard, and Bruce Brown, forward. Others on the squad are Paul Gartzke, Bob Stevens, and Adolph Roloff, forwards. Orville Patton, forward and center, Bob Barrington, guard. While the Wolves haven't looked impressive in early season, Coach Roy Bloomquist, starting his tenth year as Manawa mentor, is optimistic that the black and red will finish in the first division.

Marion
Marion and its second-year coach, Lloyd Meiners, had their first tough break before the season started when Bill Daly, star junior forward, was declared ineligible until after the first semester. As his starting lineup Meiners has been using Orin Nash and Emereth Brunner, juniors, at the forward posts, George Aschenbrenner, senior veteran, at center, Floyd Kristoff, senior, and Gary M. a Drueger sophomore, guard. Veterans include Ole Aschenbrenner and Dan Kratzke, forwards. Ervillie Willing, center, Wilbert Weisman and Roy Buss, guards. The Aschenbrenner brothers are transfers from Leopold, while Willing came to Marion from Aniwa.

Waupaca
Bill Cullen starts his second year as coach at Waupaca faced with the loss of six veterans. Cullen will have a young team that will be coming rapidly during the last half of the season, and that is apt to be of championship calibre in another year. Ken Griffith and Mouse Groholski, two seniors, are back at center and guard respectively.

Neither played regularly a year ago, but both have had experience. Gordon Jensen, who saw much action last season, handles the other guard slot, while two sophomores, Roger McLean and Sam Taylor, have been playing the forward positions. Other contenders for varsity positions are Wendell McHenry, forward, who broke his nose in the New London game. Walter Jorgensen, center, Don Nelson, a forward, Bob Christofferson, Tom Holly, and Ward Rudersdorf, guards.

Iola
Iola, a team that finished fifth in the last campaign, may prove the surprise team in the league judging from its perfect pre-conference record this season. Coach Wes Reels is starting his fifteenth season at the helm of Norse quintets, and this may be a banner year. Carroll Sorenson, four-year veteran, should prove to be just about the finest guard in the conference. He will be supported in the back court by Gaylord Forseth, fast stepping sophomore, while Phil Nelson and Emery Johnson, veteran seniors, are the forwards. A pair of brothers, big and rangy, Ken and Marshall Taylor, handle the center post. Ken, a junior, can also play guard, while Marshall, a sophomore, doubles at forward. Others on the squad are Roger Gurholt and Marilyn Swenson, forwards, Curtiss Aasen, guard, Lorin Toboas, guards and center.

Amherst
Coach Walter Bohman is beginning his fifth season at Amherst, smallest school in the loop, and prospects aren't at all promising. Four of last year's team are gone, and the squad lacks both height and experience. The starting lineup is composed of Sid Berg at center, Bob Hanson and Gardner Harvey, forwards, Oren Berto and Arthur Warner, guards. All but Hanson, a junior, are in their final year. Other squad members are Jim Loberg, center, Lewis Pomeroy and Rudy Konkell, forwards, Don Benson and Roy Vallesky, guards.

From a pre-season vantage point it looks as though Weyauwega and Iola would battle it out for top ranking in the conference, with Marion Manawa and Waupaca pretty well bunched for the remaining first division spot, and Amherst bringing up the rear. And the race may turn

Larry MacPhail Would Like To Get Padgett of Cards

BY FRITZ HOWELL
CINCINNATI, O.—(AP)—Facts and fancies from the major-minor baseball meeting:

Mike Kelley, owner of the Minneapolis Millers of the American association, who observed his 64th birthday anniversary Saturday, is the new police chief of Daytona Beach, Fla.

Mayor Ernest Padgett of the Florida city made a special trip to Cincinnati to present the veteran "Mike" with a gold badge emblematic of his new office—which he'll hold while his Millers train in Daytona Beach next spring.

Hank Gowdy, Cincinnati coach and the first baseball player to enlist in the army back in World war days, will address a church group in Springfield, O., Wednesday night.

Hank, asked what he would speak on, gave one of his longest replies: "Baseball!"

Louisville's Colonels would like to get third sacker Johnny Hill from Milwaukee via the trade route—but Milwaukee needs a first baseman and the Colonels won't listen to the Brewers proposal. Paul Campbell, Louisville first sacker, be made a part of the deal.

Rumors are flying around that Harold Anderson, former Columbus, O., outfielder, who managed the Asheville club in the Piedmont loop last season, would swing over as skipper at New Orleans in 1940, and that Zack Taylor, the San Antonio, Tex. pilot, would be at the helm of Toledo's American association into a dog fight, for none of the teams can be rated as sure.

The complete Central Wisconsin conference schedule for 1939-1940 follows:

- Dec. 8—Manawa at Marion, Iola at Weyauwega, Amherst at Waupaca.
- Dec. 15—Waupaca at Manawa, Weyauwega at Amherst, Marion at Iola.
- Dec. 22—Manawa at Amherst, Marion at Weyauwega, Iola at Waupaca.

- Jan. 19—Waupaca at Marion, Weyauwega at Marion, Iola at Amherst.
- Jan. 26—Marion at Manawa, Weyauwega at Iola, Waupaca at Amherst.
- Feb. 2—Manawa at Waupaca, Amherst at Weyauwega, Iola at Marion.
- Feb. 9—Iola at Manawa, Weyauwega at Waupaca, Marion at Amherst.
- Feb. 16—Amherst at Manawa, Weyauwega at Marion, Waupaca at Iola.
- Feb. 23—Marion at Waupaca, Manawa at Weyauwega, Amherst at Iola.

Council to Hear Board's Report On Turnover Plan

Plans Commission Expected to Recommend Celebration Chairman

Kaukauna—A report on the feasibility of beginning an oil turnover program for Kaukauna streets is expected from the board of public works at the common council meets at 7 o'clock tonight at the municipal building.

On Nov. 26 a representative of a Green Bay oil company explained such a coating to the aldermen, and the question was referred to the board, with instructions to consider working out a yearly program of street improvement. It was estimated that costs would not run more than $25 per lot to property owners, and perhaps less.

The city planning commission is expected to recommend a new chairman for the sequentennial celebration of the city's founding in 1840. Joseph C. McCarthy, originally appointed by the commission, declined the chairmanship because of business reasons.

Sewer Petitions

A petition asking for sewers in Armstrong's plat, in Stovekins addition on the north side, is to be reported on by Alderman Oscar Alger, chairman of the sewer committee. Also to come before the council for action is a petition of property owners on E. Eighth street asking for the installation of sewers.

An ordinance codifying the city's traffic measures may be brought up. The ordinance committee was directed recently to bring in such an amendment.

Last meeting a committee was appointed to confer with the county board highway committee in regard to erecting a county garage in the city. This committee will report on any developments tonight.

Kaukauna Drills For League Game With Neenah Five

Krumm's Squad Given Even Chance to Defeat Rockets Friday

Kaukauna—Off to a flying start in Northeastern conference play as the result of their 37 to 23 win at Clintonville Friday, Coach Guy Krumm's eagles began practice sessions yesterday for this week's game, with the Kaws traveling to Neenah Friday evening. Neenah walloped Appleton last week to move from a dark horse position, in Northeastern loop forecasts, right up with the contenders.

Kaukauna showed improvement at Clintonville over its previous play against East Green Bay, and should have at least an even chance against the Red Rockets. Not for several years has a Kaukauna five defeated Neenah.

Bill Alger continued to lead the Kaw scorers, dropping 11 points in against Clintonville, to run his total in four games to 42. He made 10 against Stevens Point, 14 against Waupaca and 7 against Green Bay.

Block Is Second

Joe Bloch came through with 7, his best effort since the opening game, and trails Alger with 20. Junior Swedberg, held to one point in the first two games, regained his shooting eye against the Truckers, counting 10 points, and now has a total of 15.

Following Swedberg are Karl Giordana, 11, Don Bisek, 14, and Bill Tassin, 6. Those who have seen action in games this season but have gone scoreless are Willis Ranquette, William Van Dyke, Ken Busse and Eldor Stanelle.

The Kaw offensive has rung up 108 points in four games, and has held opponents to 84. The high mark is 37 against Clintonville, and the low 21 against Green Bay.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait till your druggist or Dr. Don's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood, Get Don's Pills.

Advancement Group Asks Consultation on Solicitations in City

Kaukauna—In a letter to all civic organizations the Kaukauna Advancement association is asking that projects calling for solicitation, of business places or individuals be referred to the association's approval committee, in an effort to eliminate unnecessary solicitations. The letter stated that approval for annual or other regular affairs was not necessary, but that when outsiders were involved the association's service protected the local group. An outline of a proposed project should be submitted to the association at least two weeks before the event. Approval cards from the association will make it easier for solicitors, it was said.

Students to Give 3-Act Production

Normal School Seniors Stage 'George in a Jam' Tonight

Kaukauna—Outagamie Rural Normal school seniors will present "George in a Jam," a comedy in 3 acts, at 8:15 tonight in the civic auditorium. In the cast are Jerome Flanagan, Arlene Radke, Edsel Birdsall, Frances Walker, Harold Zimmerman, Mildred Jenkins, Gertrude Green, Dorothy Bublitz, Alvin Brandemuehl and Winfred Price.

The play opens with a harassed young guardian planning a visit in Paris for his charming ward, in hopes of curing her of an unrequited love, escorting her himself and leaving his big home in care of his other ward, a young man. Being a spendthrift lad and finding his creditors pressing, this youth takes advantage of his guardian's absence to rent out rooms and pocket the proceeds.

His star renters are a newly rich couple from the "sticks" who have come to the city to give their daughter a coat of polish and find her a "high-toned" husband. But the young man is blissfully ignorant that another renter, an apparently deaf Frenchman, is his guardian in disguise, who is masquerading to find out just what is going on in his household. He discovers plenty, and therein lies the comedy.

McCarthy, and Lee Scherer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Scherer, featured the court of honor and investiture ceremony of Knights of Columbus Troop No. 31 last night at K. of C. hall. More than 200 persons attended, including scouts of Troop 27, Kaukauna, Troop No. 16, Appleton and of the Little Chute troop.

McCarthy and Scherer received their awards from their mothers. Orville Yingling, assistant scoutmaster, dressed in Indian costume, gave a first class award to Charles Wagner, Jr., and second class badges to Emmet McMorrow, James Gustman and William Krueger.

The honor award, given annually to the best scout of the year, went to Glen Vandehy, with Leo H. Schmalz making the presentation. Walter C. Friedland, Menasha, chairman of the Fox valley council's advancement committee, spoke briefly on the building of character through scouting. Clarence H. Elberg, council scout executive, was a guest at the affair.

Tenderfoot badges went to Leon Ashauer, Eugene Vandehy, Francis Yingling, Donald Brown, Joseph Faust, James Kramer, Dean Bayoregan and Lawrence Gerend, with William Van Lieshout receiving his scout award. Lester J. Brenzel acted as master of ceremonies. Harold Hoolihan led community singing, with William Brown accompanying.

Doc Robinson Talks to Pegler But Pegler Is Still Confused

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—Dr. Frank E. Robinson of Moscow, Idaho, has been in our midst briefly and has endeavored to set your correspondent right on some matters pertaining to the God business which is enjoying a boom at the present writing. Dr. Robinson, who answers to the name of Doc, is the man who advertises that he was a box-car bum but talked with God and speedily acquired a magnificent home with a pipe organ, a Cadillac limousine for himself, other cars, dimmingendo, for his wife and son, "a lot of life insurance" and a bank account sufficient to withstand the tap of a check in five figures. He charges $20 per head for a correspondence course in his copyrighted religious philosophy, called Psychiana, and sells a collection agency on deadbeats, backsliders and flunks who try to gyp him of his payments. But he asserts, notwithstanding his rise to wealth and this firm insistence on his ownings, that he does not desire to make money out of Psychiana. His attempt to set your correspondent right thus leaves your correspondent's confusion worse confounded, but perhaps you can figure it out.

The doc who has been advertising in a New York paper of late said he was doing a lot of business and expressed disbelief in several current competitors in the God business, particularly G. W. Ballard of Los Angeles, known as the Great I Am. Mr. Ballard's widely scattered believers labor under an impression—which may be correct, for all your correspondent knows to the contrary—that he is the reincarnation of George Washington, that his wife is the reincarnation of Joan of Arc and that a gaseous God-force known as K-17 recently destroyed a fleet of hostile submarines somewhere off the American shores with a sword of purple flame. They also shun onions and garlic as being offensive to the ascender masters. The least implausible of all their tenets, some of which are rather trying, they abhor the color red for the evil vibrations which it projects into the world but nevertheless vow allegiance to the American flag and wear the same, red stripes and all, on their lapels.

Doc Robinson As 'Stuff'

Doc Robinson says he doesn't believe a word of Mr. Ballard's revelations, insisting that they are against reason, and adds that, anyway, he can't make head nor tail of the I Am religion. He refers to various of these new philosophies and faiths, including his own, as "stuff." That is to say, he speaks of a "my stuff" and Ballard's "stuff," Father Divine's "stuff" and Dr. Edwin Dingle's "stuff," this latter being something called Mental Physics, Inc., of Los Angeles, Cal., of course. His skepticism toward the others and his scoffing certainty that they are fallacious reminded your correspondent of old Doc Townsend's recent contemptuous verdict, delivered at the height of the ham-and-egg campaign in Los Angeles, that the thirty-thousand proposition was economically unsound.

In speaking of his stuff, Doc Robinson's tone is one of proprietary pride and jealousy, like that of a radio comic with a prosperous, sure-fire specialty who is wary of pirates and poachers. He says Ballard called on him when he, Ballard, "was just starting out" and discussed.

"I told him I didn't mind," the doc says, "just so he doesn't infringe my copyright. I just warned him to keep off my stuff."

Sees Similarity But Can't Make Head Nor Tail

Nevertheless, the doc insists that Ballard's stuff in parts is very similar to his stuff, even though he can't make head nor tail of Ballard's stuff. "I am not interested in saving souls," says he, "that is orthodox. I want to raise the mental and spiritual sights of the people. And if I didn't copyright my stuff I would have every faker in the country using it."

Lawrence College to Be Represented in Round Table Talks

Lawrence college will be represented at a series of round table discussions among women students from four colleges at Rockford, Ill., Thursday.

The question which will be discussed is "Shall the United States remain neutral?" Lawrence representatives will be Margery Smith,

Green Bay, and Jane Mockley, Whitefish Bay. Other women students who will participate will represent Rockford college, Northwestern university, and University of Wisconsin.

They will appear before a Rockford college convocation in the morning, the Rockford Rotary club at noon, and over the Rockford radio station at 3:30 in the afternoon. Lawrence college will be host to a similar series which will be held in Appleton in January.

NEWSPAPER WORK

Today there is a common rule of law which says no one shall be put in prison for debt. This is true in Great Britain, as in other modern countries.

When Charles Dickens was a boy, it was not true. Charles suffered over the thought of his father being in prison. He kept his father's ill fortune a secret from the boys who worked with him at the blacking factory.

Dickens at time he became a short-hand reporter.

The old rule was that a man in prison for debt had to stay there until his debts were paid. This seems odd to us. We may ask, "How could he ever pay what he owed if he did not work?"

For many men, there was no good answer. For others, it sometimes happened that friends or relatives supplied the needed money. In the case of John Dickens, the answer was a little fortune (something like $2,000) which was left to him by the will of a relative.

Out of prison came Mr. Dickens, and out of the blacking factory came Charles. His father, a good-hearted man, sent the boy to school again. The school was known as Wellington House Academy.

The headmaster, a Welshman named Jones, seems to have been harsh in his treatment of the boys. Perhaps he had reason to be harsh. Many of the boys in his school spent much of their time finding ways of mischief. They brought white mice into the classroom, and used them to pull toy chariots across the floor. One day a white mouse fell into an inkwell and was brought out dyed black!

Charles had a bright mind, and made good use of his years at the academy. When he was 15, he left school and went to work as a clerk in a lawyer's office.

Meanwhile Mr. Dickens was getting along fairly well as a short-hand reporter. His son decided it would be a good idea to learn short-hand, so he bought a book on the subject, and studied it in his spare time.

At last a newspaper called the "True Sun" gave the young Dickens work as a shorthand reporter. His duty was to take down speeches in Great Britain's Parliament. His salary was $35 a week, as measured in our money.
